Abbott Reports Heavy Surplus In White Paper

Tabled Review of Economy Serves as Budget Prelude

OTTAWA, April 7 (AP)—An estimated surplus of $355,737,000 for the 1951-52 fiscal year was reported today by Finance Minister Douglas Abbott in a budgetary White Paper.

The over-sized surplus, resulting from higher revenue than the government had anticipated, was the sixth in a row since the end of the Second World War and compared with one of $211,294,000 in 1949-50 fiscal year. The government had forecast a $30,000,000 surplus for 1951-52.

The white paper, which reviews the economic position of the country and serves as a prelude to the budget itself, was tabled in the Commons by Mr. Abbott without comment. He begins his budget speech at 8 p.m. E.S.T. tomorrow.

It showed that government revenues hit an all-time pace of $4,003,111,000, compared with $3,112,536,000 the previous year, while expenditures totaled $3,647,374,000, compared with $2,901,242,000. The surplus was applied to Canada's net debt, reducing it to $11,077,600,000.

POTENTIAL HIGH

On the economic side, the white paper reported that inflation is under control, but warned that the underlying inflationary potential still remains high and could be brought to the surface by any series of events which raised international tensions.

For the moment, prospects for 1952 indicate "continued high levels of employment and general business activity."

Prices, including those affecting the cost of living, wholesale trades and farm products, are pointing downward again after the sustained rise that developed from the Korean war.

BIG CLIMBS

Preliminary estimates placed gross national products at $21,241,000,000 against $18,122,000,000 in 1950 while gross national income soared to $17,228,000,000 from $14,555,000,000. Personal income was $15,818,000,000, compared with $13,457,000,000.

It was the big rise in gross national product, the white paper indicated, which threw Mr. Abbott off his estimate last year.

The government had estimated the national product—value of Canadian production—would go to $20,000,000,000. Actually, it reached $21,200,000,000 and revenues consequently were $292,000,000 higher than anticipated. Defense expenditures came to $260,000,000 less than expected.

Corporation income tax remained the biggest single source of government revenue, yielding $1,134,000,000, an increase of $334,800,000 over the previous year. Personal income tax produced $980,000,000, an increase of $327,700,000.

The 10 per cent indirect sales tax—increased last year from eight per cent—brought in $596,000,000, up $125,400,000.

But revenue from excise duties on tobacco and alcohol beverages dropped by $19,000,000 because of reduced sales. Receipts from duties on tobacco slipped to $102,000,000 from $114,500,000 while those on drinks declined to $123,000,000 from $129,100,000.

The decline was offset by the higher excise tax put on tobacco products last year. It returned $110,000,000, an increase of $24,800,000.

Commission Urges Revision of Code

Driving License Suspension Linked to Impaired Charge

OTTAWA, April 7 (CP)—Abolition of the death penalty for rape and of minimum sentences for all crimes has been recommended by a Royal Commission on revision of the criminal code.

In a 10,000-word report, tabled tonight in the Commons by Justice Minister Garson, the commission recommended that the code list only maximum penalties for crimes. This would leave it to the court to fit the punishment to the crime. At present, the code lists maximum and minimum penalties.

The report of the commission, headed by Chief Justice W. M. Martin of Saskatchewan, contained a lengthy list of other recommendations aimed at eliminating inconsistencies, legal anomalies or defects in the code.

Recommendations of the commission, if accepted by the government, will be offered to parliament for approval.

In a draft bill, submitted along with the report, the commission suggested that the maximum penalty for rape be life imprisonment and the lash. The commission found that in only one case in Canadian judicial history was the death penalty imposed for rape. In that instance the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

No change was suggested in sections of the code providing for lashings. However, the commission urged that such penalties be carried out under regulations passed by the federal cabinet.

Other recommendations:

1. That all charges be based on the Criminal Code or Canadian statute. At present charges can be laid under the common law of England and under old English statutes.

2. That in cases where a person has been convicted of driving while impaired by alcohol, the court have power to suspend his driving license.

3. That the jurisdiction of magistrates be extended to reduce the number of offences which must be tried by a judge and jury.

4. That the definition of criminal negligence be changed to eliminate the confusion which has arisen, particularly in motor-manslaughter cases.

5. That appeals against sentences alone be permited.

6. That a judge be allowed to suspend the sentence of first offenders without the consent of Crown counsel.

7. That no change be made in the present code empowering the imposition of fines in lieu of or in addition to any other punishment.

On the question of sentences, the report said that those now provided in the code "follow no apparent pattern or principle and in our view are frequently not consonant with the gravity of the offenses to which they relate."

Libel Stand Made

OTTAWA, April 7 (CP)—The Royal Commission on revision of the Criminal Code believes that newspapermen, charged with defamatory libel, should be indicted, tried and punished where the offense is committed rather than where they live or where their newspapers are published.

In a report, tabled tonight in the Commons by Justice Minister Garson, the commission had this to say on the question of libel:

"The commission has considered Subsection 2 of Clause 421 which provides that the proprietor, publisher, editor or other person charged with the publication of a defamatory libel in a newspaper or with conspiracy to publish a defamatory libel shall be dealt with, indicted, tried and punished in the province where he resides or in which the newspaper in printed."

Black Ball May Link Nanaimo, Vancouver

BY RAY WORMALD
Colonist Marine Editor

Inauguration of a fast ferry service between Nanaimo and Vancouver by Black Ball Ferries Ltd. is now well past the planning stage.

A 297-foot vessel now known as the City of Sacramento will be employed on the run.

The ship is now at Seattle. Within a week, it was learned yesterday, she is to be towed to either Victoria or Vancouver. A considerable amount of work, including installation of a new engine, will have to be done aboard the vessel.

(In this connection it is interesting to note a group of Yarrows Ltd. personnel were in Seattle over the past week end. A spokesman for the local shipbuilding firm declined to comment on the nature of the group's business in the Pugent Sound city.)

The City of Sacramento, built in Philadelphia in 1903, for some years was in the San Francisco Bay area ferry service. Along with other similar-type vessels she was later acquired by the Black Ball Ferry Line of Seattle. She reportedly was not included in vessels of that line which were taken over recently by Washington State Ferries.

Capt. Alex Peabody, head of the Black Ball Line in Seattle, had no comment to offer yesterday. "The story of the City of Sacramento will be broken in the near future," he stated.

The "Sacramento" has a beam of 50 feet. She is able to carry about 100 cars and a large number of passengers.

She is of 3,016 gross tons.

A ferry service linking Nanaimo with Vancouver would complete a major tourist circuit for the Black Ball firm. At present its streamlined Mv. Chinook links Seattle and Port Angeles with this city.

The new ferry service between Nanaimo and Vancouver by Black Ball Ferries Ltd. (a Canadian concern) was mentioned as a "strong rumor" by The Daily Colonist last March 15.

At that time there was also speculation about the C.P.R. planning a regular run between Victoria and Port Angeles — a route presently served exclusively by the Chinook.

Phone Walkout Begins in U.S.

NEW YORK, April 7—(AP)—A strike of 67,000 telephone workers began today in 43 states, but the public hardly noticed it.

The strikers withheld all-out picketing, thus sparing a wide-scale new tieup of the country's already shaky communications system.

In Chicago, the striking C.I.O. communications workers union said it had orders from its national officers not to picket "until further notice."

"Most service is normal," said American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The phone system has carried an added load since last Thursday when 30,000 telegraphers struck Western Union Telegraph Co.

Late today a government mediator called the Western Union situation "very dark indeed."

Some 51,000 operators and clerks struck telephone systems early today in Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey, Northern California and Nevada.

On top of that, 16,000 installers in 43 states struck against Western Electric Co., a telephone subsidiary.

An estimated 300,000 other telephone operators are reported ready to honor Western Electric picket lines, if and when they're set up at phone exchanges.

Civilian Steel Frozen On Eve of U.S. Strike

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—With a country-wide steel strike only hours away, the government today froze all shipments of civilian steel.

The national production authority called it a precautionary measure to conserve steel for national defense.

The walkout of 650,000 United Steelworkers (C.I.O.) is set for Tuesday midnight.

The government steel freeze cut off the flow from mills to auto makers, other consumer goods manufacturers and exporters.

The freeze will permit the government to cull the types of steel it needs for defense. The rest then will be released to consumer goods manufacturers.

Most civilian steel users had enough on hand for days or weeks of production, reports said.

In New York, the chairman of the wage stabilization board, Nathan P. Feinsinger, still was in touch with both industry and union, trying frantically for a last-minute truce.

He voiced a hint of cautious hope: "I believe both sides are doing some serious thinking."

Crescent Wins Race With Death

ST. GEORGE'S, Bermuda, April 7 (BUP)—The Royal Canadian Navy destroyer Crescent has raced with death and won.

The Crescent was off the southern United States on a trial run after her annual refit at Halifax.

Suddenly, there came a plea for help 280 miles out in the Atlantic.

The Royal Navy tug Empire radioed that she had a desparately sick seaman aboard and couldn't make port in time. The Crescent sped to the scene and early this morning the seaman was transferred over by a whaler under the glare of searchlights.

Tonight, the Canadian ship reached port at St. George's, Bermuda.

Steel Output Sags in U.S.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 7 (AP). Steel production sagged today and the number of laid-off mill workers rose sharply as the industry speeded up the shutdown process it must finish before Tuesday midnight when 700,000 C.I.O. United Steelworkers are slated to strike.

China Nibble On Fabrics Spurs Britons

LONDON, April 7 (AP).—Word from Moscow that Communist China might buy British fabrics got a lightning "let's talk business" reply from Britain's slump-stricken textile industry tonight.

Lord Boy Orr, leader of a British trade delegation to the Kremlin-sponsored trade conference now going on in Moscow, sent cables today to textile organizations saying:

"Urge send responsible representatives with samples. Immediate business. Missing opportunity."

By nightfall the Chamber of Commerce in Manchester, heart of the British textile industry, sent him this answer:

"Consulting other cotton and rayon organizations. Request immediate information regarding types and quantities required in yarns and fabrics.

Binoculars Pin Caddy But Camera Misses

Victoria's much-joshed sea serpent put in an appearance yesterday afternoon in his old splashing grounds, Cadboro Bay. He was seen through binoculars from close range, but eluded a camera.

Three persons—a man and two women who remained staunchly anonymous—gave the Colonist this report:

They were enjoying the sunshine on the shores of the bay when up popped a head "the size of a horse's" 100 yards away.

"I grabbed my binoculars," the man related, "and I threw the camera at my wife and said, 'Dash out and take a picture—there's Caddy!'"

His wife finished fumbling in time to see Caddy go down for the last time, unphotographed, a quarter-mile away.

In the interval, Caddy had been heading at breathtaking speed for the open sea. The head submerged and reappeared about every 20 feet. Each time the head went down, a hump of the body rose about three feet out of the water, submerging when the head came up.

Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, expressed interest in the report, particularly the description of the creature's head.

The head was "dark, dirty, drab color—the color of the rocks out there—sleek and furry."

It was, the witness said, for all the world like the head of a huge sea lion, but such a sea lion would have to be about 16 feet long.

Dr. Carl's verdict: a sea lion—possibly about 18 feet long.

St. Laurent May Withdraw Seats Motion

OTTAWA, April 7 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons tonight that due to a technicality he may withdraw a motion he has proposed regarding redistribution of parliamentary seats and submit another.

He made the statement in replying to George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, who asked when the Prime Minister's motion might be considered by the House.

Mr. St. Laurent's motion, placed on the Commons' order paper Friday, suggested that the commitee to study redistribution consider a proposal that there be no reduction of more than 15 per cent at any one time in the representation of any province.

No Ice Jams

Saskatchewan Flood Passes Peak

SASKATOON, April 7 (CP)—The ice-laden South Saskatchewan River, which took only five seconds to knock out a $1,000,000 Saskatchewan Landing bridge in its relentless spring march to Manitoba lakes, today was flowing high but apparently clear of further serious ice jams.

The South Saskatchewan's ice floes, some of them said to be as big as small houses, battered furiously early today against the railway-traffic bridge at St. Louis, 20 miles south of Prince Albert, Sask., but passed through the piers to leave the structure only slightly damaged.

Today also saw elimination of the damage threat to the railway and traffic bridges spanning the flood-swollen river at Elbow and Outlook, farther south.

Meanwhile, at Pierre, S.D., the Missouri River tonight threatened the worst flood in 71 years.

At Bismarck, N.D., also on the Missouri, and at Sioux Falls, S.D., on the tributary Big Sioux River, flood crests apparently were passing after driving some 2,100 persons from their homes. One death was reported.

The weather bureau at Sioux City, Iowa, said the Missouri will probably rise to between 23 and 24 feet at Pierre.

The Red Cross said preparations are being made for a water level of at least 22 feet—seven feet above flood stage. Committees have been named to evacuate, house and feed any persons affected by floodwaters.

Audience Suffers With "Actors" As Horses Shown Aintree Film

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., April 7 (AP)—The newsreel taken at the Grand National steeplechase was shown at the Odean Theatre today for an audience of two horses.

The equine moviegoers were Eastern Silver, an 11-year-old chestnut, and stalemate Black Diamond, an eight-year-old gelding.

They are steeplechasers themselves, although of more modest ability than the 47 top-rankers who ran in the Grand National at Aintree last Saturday.

Owner-trainer Frank Cotton said showing them the newsreel was a switch on the psychology used by the rooster in the old story. This wily bird introduced the hen to an ostrich egg as an example of what you can do if you'll just make the old college try.

"The idea," said Cotton, "is to see if it will help them when they race again."

Both horses watched the screen intently. Both shuddered when 10 horses went down at the first fence. They flinched from time to time as the other murderous Aintree jumps cut the field from 47 starters to 10 survivors at the finish.

The film lasted 15 minutes.

When it finished Black Diamond was sweating as hard as though he had just run the Grand National personally. Eastern Silver just looked thoughtful.

Now—Give Generously to Conquer Cancer

ONCE A WEEK

By H. T. Matson

With last week waning, came wearily, a maladive supreme. A personable chap, but beset by an over-analytical brain and a Perfectionist Complex that really flogged.

His life apparently had been so punctured by gains, losses and sullen anti-climaxes (abstract, mostly) that today he is little less than a [illegible] Grundy and the Phoenix Bird.

Repeatedly had he climbed the ladder, but with finger-tips testing the top rung would suddenly feel incapable of completion-to-perfection, and forthwith would take fright and bolt—or, like the Phoenix Bird, set fire to himself, then later rise from his ashes to again strive for beauty and perfection.

So, in a strange, fey sympathy came these turgid verses.

CRY FROM THE MALADIVE

Cede me no Diadems for Greatness won by Toil
Nor Coronets in Virtue's scented Name;
Anoint me not in pungent Holy Oil,
Nor stand me in the Galleries of Fame.

Riches and Booty
Stir not my Heart,
Dearth is enchanting—
Psyche and Beauty
Meet but to part
Weeping, descanting.

Give me unceasingly a Life of Love and Hell
Bled by Uncertainties, and Happiness with Pain.
Cast me from Ecstasy to Sorrow's Depthless Wel
Blind me in Misery, then lend me Eyes, again.

Lash me severely
If I'm sot with Sin
Humbly I'll serve it . . .
But kiss me dearly
If my Soul within,
Should 'ere deserve it.

Scottish Revue Draws Clans

BY RAY BAINES

Scots from everywhere within five miles came to see the Scottish Revue of 1952 at the Royal Theatre last night and 'twas wurrth every painny.

First generation Scots saw second generation Scots in a program of Highland dancin' which would'a bin cheap at twice the price.

'Twas the bairns who near stole the show, tho'. Wee tots hardly auld enough to go to school danced to the pipes like they'd grown up at hame in Scotland.

Sponsored by the Victoria Highland Games Association and presented by champion Highland dancer Adeline Duncan, the show warmed the hearts of every Scot and "foreigner" in the theatre.

The program opened with a smart Victoria Highland Games Pipe Band in selections including the bonnie "All the Blue Bonnets Are Over the Border."

Literally scores of gaily-kilted youngsters were featured in several production numbers notably "Roamin' in the Gloamin'," (with young pipers Jeanie Burns and Jamie Troy), "Highland Whisky" and "The Dashing White Sergeant."

Junior champion dancers Heather Duncan and Ronald Marrs were featured in the sprightly "Gillie Gallum," and Adeline Duncan in "Seann Truibhas." Mrs. Duncan received a tremendous ovation for her performance.

What the youngsters lacked in skill and polish they made up for with Highland enthusiasm which had the audience in a gay mood before many minutes had gone by.

The tots were cute without being precocious and seemed to be having as much fun as those who were watching.

The Highland Schottische number, the "Shore Leave" piece and "Loch Lomond in Swing" provided a bit of gay variety. The audience loved it all.

The Welsh Dance and the Sailorette number had just about as much support from the predominantly Scottish audience as the music from hame.

A smart production of Prince Charlie's Return starred Heather Duncan and Ronald Marrs, a group of skilled young dancers and soprano Mrs. W. H. Wilson.

Earlier the audience heard the pretty soprano voice of Louise Martin in a pair of lovely Scottish songs.

Pipe Major Jan Duncan provided the pipe music for many of the dances and later was featured in an accordion-pipe duet with Clifford Moore.

Association president John MacKay spoke to the capacity house on behalf of the participants in the revue.

Net proceeds of the show will be turned over to the ladies' auxiliary of the Victoria Nursing Home.

The mishap occurred at the intersection of Government and Fisgard Streets.

The accused is represented by Lloyd G. McKenzie, while Joseph McKenna, Q.C., will prosecute for the Crown.

Cancer Battle Address Topic

Nation-wide battle against cancer—No. 2 killer of Canadians—will form the grim background to an address by a Victoria authority tonight.

The fight—dramatic as atomic warfare—is being waged in 72 research projects across the nation. Their work is co-ordinated by the National Cancer Institute of Canada.

Cancer research developments in diagnosis and newest trends in proven treatment will be described by Dr. H. H. Murphy, director of the recently-opened Victoria Cancer Clinic.

The local clinic is one of many through which the day-by-day gains of the researchers can be made available to the people who need them the most—the sufferers from the disease.

Dr. Murphy will be heard over CJVI at 9 p.m. His address is a feature of the current 1952 Conquer Cancer Campaign.

It's Loaded—So Be Careful!

Before you drive the Golden Anniversary Cadillac, there is one thing we should like to impress upon you: It's loaded—so be careful!

There's more power in that dynamic engine than you'll ever need—except for the rarest emergency. And it should never, never be used for dramatic display on the get-away.

If somebody else wants the honors when the light turns green—let 'em go. You don't have to prove anything, anyway.

But that great power works for you—even when you're not unleashing it to its full limit.

It works for you as a reserve—and gives you that easy, quiet, flowing ride which makes a Cadillac such a joy to own and such a thrill to drive . . .

It gives you that slow-moving engine—that simply loafs at all legal speeds—and which is a literal Methuselah when it comes to long life . . .

And it is a primary reason for that unbelievably low upkeep expense, at which Cadillac owners never cease to marvel. And the easy-going engine, that never operates under strain, is a big factor in this economy.

Yes—Cadillac's great power really works for you—and is one of the vital reasons why Cadillac's performance is so outstandingly different.

But we trust that no Cadillac owner will ever use it for unnecessary accelerating—or for dominating the highway. To do so is not only counter to the rules of safety—but it is not in keeping with the graciousness the motoring public has come to expect from the person who sits at the wheel of a Cadillac.

Have you seen this great Golden Anniversary creation? If not, we should be pleased to welcome you to our showrooms—at any time.

Canada Seeking Opinions On Russian Peace Move

OTTAWA, April 7 — (CP) — Canada is sounding out her Moscow embassy as well as friendly capitals about the latest sign of a Russian peace offensive—the statement by an Indian diplomat that a talk with Stalin convinced him the time has come for a conference of cold-war leaders.

Informed quarters say the federal government is not suggesting a line of action in friendly governments but is trying to find out what others—mainly the United States and United Kingdom—think is behind recent Russian statements.

Canada's position on Soviet peace overtures as stated by external affairs minister Pearson is that the door should be kept open for any genuine indication that Russia does want to call off the cold war.

The big job is to decide what is genuine and what isn't. So far Russia's overtures have been written off as not genuine.

The latest one emerged during the week-end when India's retiring ambassador to Moscow talked with Stalin and came away saying "every effort should be made to get the top people together."

Sir Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan said "there is no outstanding problem now dividing the world which could not be settled with discussion and negotiation."

This impression Stalin apparently gave the Indian ties in with such things as the Moscow international economic conference which brought statements that Russia is ready to do a billion-dollar trade with the U.S., with the Russian offer to see Germany united and rearmed, and with Stalin's recent statement that an east-west conference would be useful.

Churchill Cool To Meeting Of Big Three

LONDON, April 7 (BUP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill indicated today in cautiously-worded replies to House of Commons questioning that he believes the time is not yet ripe for a face-to-face meeting with Premier Josef Stalin to try to settle the cold war.

Laborite N. N. Dodds brought up the question of a meeting of the Big Three heads of state.

(Washington dispatches Saturday said President Truman also had turned a deaf ear to Stalin's bid, and that he believed the United States and its allies should continue the long wait for "action not words" from the Soviet to support their assertions of wanting to ease cold war tensions.)

Dodds did not mention Stalin's apparent overtures. He asked Churchill flatly for the third time in recent months what contribution he was ready to make to a Big Three meeting now that the West is growing stronger with rearmament.

Churchill referred Dodds back to the answer he gave on Nov. 12.

"There are at present no plans for negotiations on general problems with the Soviet Union, but the possibility of a high level meeting should not be excluded if circumstances are favorable."

Planning Test Of New Drug

OTTAWA, April 7 (CP) — A new so-called "wonder drug"—rimifon—used for tuberculosis treatment, will be used in Ottawa for the first time this week in an attempt to save the life of a six-months-old infant.

Dr. D. A. Stewart, treating the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lanouette, said today he has requested a supply of the drug, which has been developed in the United States. The supply has been promised in time for treatment Wednesday.

The child, Joanne Lanouette, is suffering from tuberculous meningitis, and her condition is described as "critical."

The drug, developed last June, is still not on general sale in the United States until approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Health Minister Martin, in a recent statement warning against over-optimism about the new drugs, said all opinions on their effectiveness are based on limited research.

Oddities

TORONTO, April 7 (BUP)—There's talk that a hound dog in nearby Scarboro Junction is going to be made an honorary fireman.

Small wonder, too.

The black and tan hound—"Gunner"—was already doing a first-class job when firemen arrived at a house fire in Scarboro today.

The firemen found Gunner racing from the house with a flaming sheet in his mouth. The dog brought it outside and stamped the flames out on the ground.

Then, while firemen fought the blaze in a bedroom, Gunner would pick up burning pillows they threw out a window and douse them in a mud puddle.

LONG BUCKLEY, Buckingham, England, April 7 (AP)—Firemen rushed up to Jack Goff's house, looked at the burning chimney, and told him they would fight the flames from the roof.

Goff's house is one of a tightly-packed row of similar structures. A fireman clambered up with a hose, stuck the nozzle down a chimney, and cut loose.

Screams burst forth from next door. One of Goff's neighbors, drenched, ran out.

The fireman put the hose down the wrong chimney.

Tax on Smokes, Liquor Cut Federal Revenue

OTTAWA, April 7 (CP)—Reduced sales cut into the government's revenue from excise duties on cigarettes and alcoholic beverages in 1951-52, it was shown today in a White Paper tabled in the Commons by Finance Minister Abbott.

Estimated total revenue from the duties on cigarettes and drinks dropped $19,000,000 to $[illegible] in 1950-51. Excise duties on cigarettes produced $102,000,000 against $114,500,000 and on alcoholic beverages $123,000,000 against $129,400,000.

The decline was offset by the higher excise tax—an additional federal levy—which was put on tobacco products in the last budget. It yielded $110,000,000, an increase of $21,800,000 over the preceding year.

Representations have been made to Mr. Abbott to reduce [illegible] on the ground it has reduced sales.

Canadians Saving Big Part of Income

OTTAWA, April 7 (CP)—Canadians salted away a fair chunk of their personal income in 1951.

A government budgetary White Paper reported today that Canadians earned $15,818,000,000 last year and put $641,000,000 of it into personal savings, boosting total personal savings to $1,740,000,000.

In 1950, personal income totaled $13,457,000,000 and personal savings declined to $860,000,000 from $1,005,000,00 in 1949.

Expenditures on consumer goods and services ate up $13,062,000,000 of the 1951 personal income, compared with $11,862,000,000 in 1950, while direct taxes took $1,016,000,000, compared with $735,000,000.

The bulk of 1951 personal income—$9,640,000,000—came from wages, salaries and supplementary labor income. Other sources included $2,191,000,000 as net farm income, $1,595,000,000 as net income of non-farm unincorporated businesses, $1,454,000,000 in interest, dividends and net rental income and $1,001,000,000 in government payments of various kinds.

The personal savings of $1,740,000,000 constituted slightly less than 35 per cent of the nation's savings—$5,059,000,000—from all sources in 1951.

Nazis' Attempted Flight Disclosed

COPENHAGEN, April 7 (AP)—Evidence of the attempted flight of a group of unknown Germans from the ruins of Hitler's Reich in the closing hours of the war was found today in the wreck of a Nazi submarine.

Immediately after dynamite charges had burst open a torpedo tube during salvage operations off the Island of Funen, huge quantities of canned foods rose to the surface. Soon the sea was covered with rotting sausages and soup cubes.

Subsequent investigations showed that all the tubes were stuffed with canned foods and that no torpedoes or other ammunition were on board the submarine, which was hit and sunk by Britain's R.A.F., May 4, 1945.

The obvious inference is that the craft was intercepted while trying to escape from the doomed Reich, possibly to South America. But no log or other papers disclosing the identity of those on board, or of their destination, have yet been found.

The vessel was accompanied on the day it met its fate by two other submarines, one of which was likewise sunk by the R.A.F. The fact there were three U-boats is interpreted here as possible evidence that a concerted attempt at flight by a large number of high Nazis has been disclosed. Some Danes are even surmising that Hitler himself may have been on board one of the submarines.

There was no indication of the third submarine's fate.

Contents of the other U-boat have not yet been investigated.

Reports earlier in the day that skeletons or corpses had been found in the craft were stated by the diver in charge, Harry Olsen, to be untrue. Only pieces of bones have been recovered, he said.

Fair Dollar Stand Asked

MONTREAL, April 7 (CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce today made a special appeal to retailers to exchange American currency fairly now that the Canadian dollar is at a premium.

The chamber said fairness in the matter of exchange rates would offset reports of merchants discounting the American dollar below the current rate, antagonizing American tourists.

Alberta Puts Stamp of Approval On Natural Gas Export to Coast

EDMONTON, April 7 (CP)—The Alberta Government today put its stamp of approval on export of natural gas from the Peace River area to the Pacific coast.

Premier E. C. Manning gave notice in the legislature he will move Tuesday a resolution asking that the House approve the issuance of a 22-year export permit to the Westcoast Transmission Company Limited. Export would begin by the end of 1954.

He tabled a draft of an export permit which sets out the amounts of gas which may be exported, the areas from which it may be drawn, and the conditions under which the company must furnish gas service to the communities of the Peace River district.

The conservation board recommended the export. It submitted the draft export permit to the government for approval March 29. The draft stipulates that during the first five years the total amount of gas to be exported shall not exceed 210,000,000,000 cubic feet.

It further sets out that not more than 42,000,000,000 cubic feet shall be exported in any one year and not more than 165,000,000 cubic feet in any one day.

The permit will run for 22 years and after the first five years the board will fix the amount of gas which may be exported.

The permit requires that the company build a pipeline in the Peace River district before Dec. 31, 1953, to service the communities of Grande Prairie, Clairmont, Sexsmith, Webster, Woking, Esher, Rycroft and Spirit River.

It also says that before gas is exported, the board may require the company to extract any substances—except methane. These by-products could conceivably [illegible] tries.

U.S. Company Enthusiastic Over Gas Plan

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, April 7 (CP)—An announcement in the Alberta legislature today was hailed here as "very good news for the entire State of Washington."

The comment was made by Burl Hagadone, vice-president of Trans-Northwest Gas, Inc., following the announcement the Alberta legislature will be asked to approve export of natural gas from the Peace River district.

Trans-Northwest, a Spokane corporation, would buy gas from Westcoast Transmission Co., Ltd. at a point near Osoyoos, B.C., and pipe it through a lateral system to markets in eastern Washington and northern Idaho. It has an application to that effect before the federal power commission. The F.P.C. will rule on it in June.

"This announcement should make it possible to start work at an early date on the lateral system," Mr. Hagadone said.

Block the Single Entry Plan

As soon as a provincial main highway enters municipal territory responsibility for the organization and control of traffic passes from the provincial authorities to the local council. That being the case, what is the reaction of the city and Saanich councils to the provincial government's decision to funnel into Douglas Street the traffic of all the three highways leading into Victoria?

Victoria may think it has some traffic problems now, but they are small compared with the congestion and utter confusion that are inevitable if this fantastic project is allowed to go through. Even without summer tourist traffic, conditions today at the Fountain circus already are serious at rush hours. It calls for little imagination to picture the chaos that would be created if all the airport traffic and most of the Saanich Peninsula traffic were added to the load this intersection has to carry.

Yet that is just what the government proposes to do, by leading the southern end of the airport highway into the city along Douglas Street, abandoning the present Quadra Street route at Royal Oak. Not even a costly system of automatic controls could then save the Fountain junction from being choked to immobility at peak hours.

Saanich also faces a serious problem if the single outlet plan is put into effect, because the Regina Avenue intersection where the Island Highway, West Coast Road and Saanich Peninsula traffic would all converge is under Saanich jurisdiction, along with the section of Douglas from Regina to the city limits. Confusion only slightly less than that at the Fountain would result at Regina when inbound traffic on the Patricia Bay and Island highways met the opposing outbound stream where it forked north and west at the junction. Only a cloverleaf system at enormous cost could begin to cope with a situation like that.

In the government's single-spout highway plan there are worse traffic headaches in the making for Victoria and Saanich than anything they have experienced up to now. Both councils should take stock of the proposals before it is too late. Once contracts are let it would be more difficult to persuade the government to abandon the single channel idea in favor of the three separate outlets that ought to be installed.

"Monty" Makes It Easy

GENERAL Eisenhower is expected to give up his European command any time now and return to the United States to pursue his campaign for the presidency. According to reports reaching this side that departure has been made easier by a generous gesture on the part of Field Marshal Montgomery.

As Eisenhower's deputy the famous "Monty" is the logical man to succeed to the supreme command of the Western alliance were merit the sole criterion. In high international posts, however, it seldom is. For a number of reasons it is held desirable that an American should take over when Eisenhower leaves his S.H.A.P.E. assignment, and his chief of staff, General Gruenther, has been cited as his likely successor.

Montgomery outranks Gruenther and is immeasurably his superior in battle and high command experience. Notwithstanding which it is reported that to ease the situation the British field marshal has offered to serve under Gruenther as he now serves under Eisenhower.

This is the second such gesture of Montgomery's. At the height of the European war, after the Normandy invasion phase was over and the Allied land forces had been divided into separate commands, and although by then the leading field commander, Montgomery offered to serve under American General Bradley, his junior in rank, in order that the Allied land troops might function under one land commander. The offer was not accepted and divided field command existed until the end of the war.

Field Marshal Montgomery has been depicted so often as difficult to handle, jealous of his prerogatives, and liking his own way, that it merely does justice to this brilliant soldier to record these instances of personal sacrifice for the common Allied good. The first instance at least is not so well known as it might be.

The Surplus That Wasn't There

NOT long ago when the senate was asked to approve $246,000,000 in supplementary federal expenditures for the fiscal year 1951-52, Senator Crerar took exception to this overdraft form of financing, and with every right. Yesterday a government "White Paper" released just in advance of the coming budget reported that Mr. Abbott had retired $355,737,000 of the public debt in the same period through a budgetary surplus. Putting the two together by a most remarkable co-incidence one arrives at the figure $601,737,000, which is strangely reminiscent of the current surplus as reported at December; when Mr. Abbott was saying that this was not a surplus, and his supporters that there wouldn't be a single dollar over at the end of the year.

It will be for the minister of finance to show now how it was that federal departments were permitted to overspend themselves by $246,000,000 beyond the voted appropriations of parliament with his consent if there were no such covering funds in excess in his accounts, in addition to the $355,737,000 he acknowledges was used to retire part of the public debt. In his budget speech last year Mr. Abbott estimated only a surplus of some $32,000,000 for the same fiscal period. A surplus is an excellent thing where it remains at the control of parliament, and parliament and not the minister of finance has the final right to say what shall be done with it. It is that principle, and not the money, which is making Mr. Abbott look a little foolish now; his surplus is showing, and it isn't $32,000,000 if the "White Paper" is correct.

BUS FARES

Sir,—I would like to register my disapproval of the increased B.C. Electric fares. I don't mind paying for a ride providing I get a fairly decent return for the money spent on the distance I travel. Have lived for over 30 years in the Quadra-Hillside district, and years ago we had a 6-cent fare to Quadra and Cook. After that it was an 8-cent fare to Lakehill. Now we pay the same fare for this short distance as the people traveling to Lakehill and Beckwith, which is roughly three or four times the distance. Going to town we usually have the privilege of standing at certain hours. Our taxes are more in the city, and yet we have to pay the same bus fares for about a quarter of the distance as those outside the city. Could it not be more according to the distance we have to travel?

BURNT-OUT PENSIONS

Sir,—In a recent edition of your paper I noticed that a revision of the War Veterans' Allowance Act was shortly to be begin at Ottawa.

A copy of this act informs me that the object "is to relieve the veterans, etc., who due to age or disability are incapable of maintenance."

Truly a laudable object, but I regret that under present interpretations of the act there is no allowance made for any but those who have no desire to help themselves. There is no allowance or relief available for any who are able to help themselves. If an applicant has a job or income which partly supports him he must give this up before getting the help he should have under the act.

I am a veteran of two wars in the Canadian Army and was in every way entitled to receive the burnt-out pension five years ago. Finding my ability to earn beginning to wane I decided to apply for it. To my surprise I discovered that before my application could be considered I would have to close up the small store which has so far supported me.

Surely the purpose of the act was not to take away any or all self-respect a veteran might have. Instead of helping him, the act apparently aims at making him a dependent. Even in this it is inconsistent since a wage earner can earn a certain sum and still be eligible and even after getting his pension he can still earn an unstated amount by casual labor. Why should one who has built up a business be denied that opportunity? The only reply to this I could get was that the board was "not interested in subsidizing stores." Where is the difference between a tradesman and a storekeeper? The tradesman may use his allowance and work at his trade at a reduced rate, are they not subsidizing competition for other tradesmen?

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE feminine voice on the phone put me in a bit of a—er—dither for a moment. It wanted to know what the initials P.B.I., as used here the other day, stood for.

I took a deep breath before I answered. After all I like to be diplomatic to ladies, and there was no view-screen to help me size up my enquirer and guess at her possible reaction.

Maybe I should have been evasive, and said "Poor Bloomin' Infantry". That way out is often taken. But then the dictionary is untroubled by scruples, it sees nothing wrong with the word "bloody," and why should I?

So I told her the truth—and her silvery laughter assured me she wasn't shocked. As, of course, nobody should be. It's the distorted use of this good old Anglo-Saxon word that has caused its eviction from the drawing room.

I'm not just sure, though, to what use another reader was putting this adjective when he wrote me a note about the Guards, I'll have to read it twice over again to make sure. He's an old P.B.I. himself, apparently, and he thinks I'm "buttering them up" when I set Gordon Head cadets alongside those famous bearskins.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Listen, my boy. Have you ever seen the Guards march?" asks he.

Why yes. Who hasn't, indeed. I've seen 'em on the screen, on television, and—in person. And I've read of their Loos epic, when they went over the top as though on the Horse Guards Parade.

But they're not the only footsloggers who can step it out, you know.

Jemima, no. I've never forgotten, for instance, the Pats at Work Point in 1939. I saw them on the square one day and the spit-and-polish was superb. They marched as if tied together, with never a slip or deviation. On that day's showing anyway, they couldn't be beaten.

And just a week or so ago I read where the Germans, no slouches themselves, at snappy footstepping, stood open-mouthed while a battalion of the 27th Canadian Brigade swept along the main street of Hanover. The precision was perfect.

"Ah," says another P.B.I. correspondent, "but you're forgetting my old outfit—the Lancashire Fusiliers. How they could march!"

By goom, lad, yes they could. I saw them ankle-deep in sand and of course you wouldn't expect a parade ground strut then, but they could footslog it and no mistake. Right sturdy chaps they were to have around. Good hefty legs.

* * *

You need legs to belong to the P.B.I., naturally. And if they're bandy, and wear a kilt, so much the better. (This should appease the proud Gordon who also injected himself into the argument.) Really though, kilties don't march, they swing.

But ask the girls how they swing!

I'm beginning to be sorry I brought up this P.B.I. business. If I don't name the Royal Scots, now, there's an old sweat who'll scalp me next time I see him. Well, they're tops too, as befits the oldest regiment in the British Army. (Let no one start a fight about that priority, please.)

Then how can I leave out the Seaforths, Canadian-brand; or the Rifle Brigade, English-brand; or the Green Howards, the Dublin Fusiliers, the Welch Regiment—not to speak of the Canadian Scottish and a score of others. On its own happy occasion any P.B.I. unit can match the—er—Guards.

But you know something? Harking back to the pictures I saw of the famous Victory Parade in London in 1945, who do you think marched along the Mall with the most gallant air, the most meticulous bearing, the most perfect alignment.

The Waacs!

That should please the lady whom I might have startled with the "B" in P.B.I. It certainly tickles me.

Reports From Ottawa

THE odd surname of Senator J. Gordon Fogo, Q.C., president of the National Liberal Federation, is of Spanish origin.

One explanation of this is that a distant progenitor of this sharp-nosed, deep-voiced Maritimer was exiled from Spain for political reasons, and made his way to Scotland. Another is that a shipwrecked survivor of the Spanish Armada crawled out of the sea onto the rocky Scottish shore to found the Scots line of Fogo.

But whatever the name's source, it has nothing to do with the fog that rolls off the Atlantic to blanket Fogo's native Halifax. The Progressive Conservatives have long been aware that there's nothing fogbound about Fogo—a fact which again was brought home to them last week.

What Fogo did, in the slickest political stroke of the week, was to put forward the thesis that the Tories, and not the Liberals at all, were the first to abandon the word "dominion". He even produced photostats to "prove" his statement and put in a ridiculous position those P.C.'s who have been denouncing the government for insisting that the name of this country is simply "Canada"—not "Dominion of Canada".

* * *

Fogo has been boss of the Liberal's political machine since 1945, as president of the Liberal Federation. Thus it was right up his alley to take a political roundhouse swing at the Tories while he was addressing a convention meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women. But making the opportunity all the more satisfying to Fogo was the fact that his opposite number in the Tory ranks, J. M. Macdonnell, president of the National Progressive Conservative Association, had been one of those most indignant over the jettisoning of "dominion".

First Fogo quoted a Canadian Press despatch of March 14, 1943, datelined Ottawa, and reporting that "Another stage in the transition of the old Conservative political party was reached here Saturday when the Dominion Conservative Association was replaced by 'The Progressive Conservative Association of Canada'".

Then he pointed out that "The word 'dominion', now causing the Tories so much uneasiness, disappeared from the official stationery of the Conservative party somewhere between 1915 and 1919".

As proof, he flourished two letterheads. One, which he said was used in 1945, read "Progressive Conservative Party, Dominion Headquarters, 'Bracken House,' 141 Laurier Avenue West, Ottawa, Canada". The other, which he identified as of 1949 vintage, read "The Progressive Conservative Party of Canada, National Headquarters, 141 Laurier Avenue West, Ottawa, Canada".

* * *

The Liberal ladies tittered and clapped. But burly George Drew snorted when he heard of Fogo's argument.

"They must be hard up if they resort to that," the P.C. national leader commented. "After all, there a difference between changing the name of a political party, and changing the name of the country.

"Under the constitution," he opined, Canada is a dominion. So it's the Dominion of Canada. That's the correct descriptive title—like Republic of France—until and unless parliament changes it by amending the constitution."

But whether Drew is right in his interpretation of the wording of the Constitution, or whether the Liberals are, Senator Fogo still had pulled one out of the hat which will make prime political propaganda for the Grits.

John, John's and Johns

(From The Ottawa Journal)

SOME newspapers still, and mistakenly, spell the chief city in New Brunswick St. John. It is Saint John, this by municipal ordinance, and to save confusion with other communities of similar names. But the river which flows through the city and down the valley to the sea is the St. John River.

One would expect the post office people to have some difficulty with the mail directed to these cities and towns which have "John" in their name. In addition to Saint John, N.B., there is a post office in Quebec called St. Johns, without an apostrophe, and Newfoundland has not only St. John's but St. John's East and St. John's West, all with the apostrophe. And St. John's East, it should be noted, like St. John's West is in the Dominion electoral district of St. John's West.

Nor is this the end of possible elements of confusion. In the city of Saint John (according to the Canadian Almanac) are post offices called St. John North and St. John West. Thus we have, and it must be sometimes to the complete bewilderment of postal people, a St. John West in Saint John, N.B., and a St. John's West in St. John's West, Newfoundland.

This should be enough for today, except we should like to mention the irrelative fact that Newfoundland has also two St. Jones, one being St. Jones Within and the other St. Jones Without. They are in Trinity-Conception electoral district, and some Newfoundlander may be able to tell us what the one is within and what the other is without. As for us we haven't the least idea, and probably it is something we should know.

Advertising Competitors

(From The Edmonton Journal)

THE U.S. courts, from time to time, are the scene of lawsuits weirder than anything Dickens or Gilbert and Sullivan ever imagined. The latest fracas arose over the federal government's decision to bring out a new issue of stamps, commemorating the 125th anniversary of the opening of the Baltimore and Ohio, the first American railroad.

A trucking firm has applied for a court injunction to prevent the stamps being put on sale. It claims that the post office has wronged it by advertising one of its competitors in the freight business!

So far, no word has come from Washington on the outcome. If the injunction is granted, all kinds of disturbing possibilities will be raised. Perhaps some livestock association will try to banish the familiar buffalo from the nickel, on the ground that it advertises a potential competitor in meat.

AIRCRAFT now carry water bombs to fight forest fires. They are paper bags of a special design containing several gallons of water each. A forest fire usually is a pretty monstrous and savage thing against which a few paper bags full of water must seem a very trivial measure of control. But fire fighting in the forest is nowadays a highly scientific enterprise, with millions of government and private money back of it. And in all forest fires there are moments when a little water, dropped at some particular strategic point of the fire's advance, may save the situation together with millions of dollars of public money.

No other public property pays as well as do the forests. Besides the national income from the forest industries such as pulp and paper, lumber and wood products, it is the forests which bring $300,000,000 worth of American tourists into Canada each year. They do not come to see our pavements and buildings.

Only a few years ago, the lumbermen and the pulp and paper operators looked askance at the growing tourist industry in Canada. They did not fancy the intrusion of a host of careless campers and tourists into the precious wilderness. But the tourist industry has brought roads and highways. And apart from the value of roads as a means of transporting wood from the forests, it is now recognized that roads are the greatest factor in the control of forest fire. A thousand tourists may cause a given number of fires. But one lone camper, who starts a fire in a territory into which there is no easy access for men and equipment to fight it, can do a thousand times more damage than the thousand tourists along the roads. Paper bombs of water have their emergency use. But real fire control lies in numerous roads.

Air Supremacy

By STEFFAN ANDREWS
From Washington

RUSSIA has taken a big jump on the major air forces of the world in jet production, and undoubtedly has the leading jet air force in existence today.

This sweeping admission comes from America's top-ranking air force officers, who say that the biggest job confronting the United States is how to catch up with the Russians.

Piece by piece the story of how Russia seized upon a revolutionary change in plane flying and parlayed it into a commanding position for air supremacy is coming out of heavily censored congressional hearings.

The gist of the story is this:

1. In the last six years all the major air forces of the world have been passing through a technological revolution precipitated by the sudden development of jet propulsion.

2. The mass production of jet-propelled combat planes, with speeds exceeding the speed of sound, suddenly threw into the discard the huge fleet of piston-driven combat aircraft which the United States amassed in the last war.

3. With all nations forced to start from scratch, Russia secretly seized the initiative immediately after the war. Now the established air-power nations are confronted with the blunt fact that the Russians have surpassed them in new jet engine production.

4. Because jet power made possible plane speeds heretofore unknown to man, a similar start from scratch has been thrust upon all major nations for pilot training. Today, Russian pilots have pulled abreast United States pilots in flying the tricky transonic speed range.

In testimony before congressional appropriation committees, the leading spokesmen for the United States air force admit that Russia's tremendous buildup of jet air power is "sobering".

"The results of that immense effort show up in the magnitude of Soviet production of combat aircraft—several times the production of combat aircraft for the United States," said General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff.

"We are not ahead of the Russians on jet-engine development today. We have got to do all we can to keep up with them," said Roswell L. Gilpatric, under-secretary of the air force.

Their statements are based on the fact that American intelligence agencies have ferreted out the information that Russian air units are composed of 20,000 first-line planes, not including thousands of Russian planes in reserve.

According to Vandenberg, the Russians have several thousand more planes in their combat units than the United States air forces and naval aviation combined, and in the matter of reserves their resources are even greater.

This sudden rise of the Russian air force forms the most ominous threat this country has known, is the way Vandenberg summed up the situation.

He predicted that within three years almost all of the Russian air force will be jet powered, and that the Russians will have begun a new era of air supremacy.

B.C. Social Credit Party Will Hold First Major Convention on Mainland

British Columbia's blossoming new Social Credit party will hold its first major convention in New Westminster April 26.

The one-day convention will ratify a platform for the coming provincial election and will choose a provincial leader.

Top contenders for the leadership are W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, who bolted Conservative party ranks last year, and W. N. Chant, former Alberta agriculture minister who has been nominated to carry the Socred banner in Esquimalt.

Others who may be in the running for leadership are provincial president Lyle Wicks and provincial organizer Peer V. Paynter. Nominations may come from the convention floor.

The party's platform has already been drafted by the party's upper echelons and needs only ratification by a full convention.

A Social Credit spokesman said yesterday the party expects the convention to pack the 1,100 seat auditorium of the New Westminster High School. Each of the province's 41 constituency associations is allowed to send 25 voting delegates.

Victoria Social Crediters will hold their nominating convention in party headquarters at 750 Pandora Avenue next Tuesday.

The party's national president, Rev. Ernest Hansell, will speak to a public meeting here next Wednesday.

Hart Road Open in July

Traffic will be rolling over the full length of the John Hart Highway by the beginning of July, Evan Jones, deputy public works minister, said yesterday.

The road, under construction for seven years, runs 256 miles from Prince George to Dawson Creek in B.C.'s Peace River country.

Only major holdup now is a bridge over the Parsnip River.

A temporary bridge is to be completed by June 30 when the highway will be officially opened, Mr. Jones said.

A contract has been let for construction of a $385,000 permanent bridge over the Parsnip.

Realty Offices Asked to Close For Four Days

Real estate offices in Victoria have been asked to stay closed from Thursday night to Tuesday morning it was reported yesterday.

The president of the real estate board of Victoria has made the recommendation to members, board secretary Hubert Lethaby reported.

Board to Determine B.C.H.I.S. Eligibility

A five-man medical review board has been set up by the provincial cabinet to decide questions of eligibility under the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

The board was recommended by the legislature's special committee on hospital insurance.

One of its chief jobs probably will be to decide whether individual cases are chronic or acute. Chronic cases are not covered by hospital insurance.

Three of the members are Victoria doctors recommended by the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons. They are Dr. W. D. Marshall, chairman; Dr. F. T. Rose and Dr. J. D. Stenstrom.

Other members are Dr. R. Fraser, B.C.H.I.S. medical consultant, and D. M. Cox, assistant commissioner of the service.

Under the new setup, cases of doubtful eligibility for insurance coverage will first be considered by Dr. Fraser. If necessary, he will ask the board to rule on the case.

Shortest Lecturer Talks About the Longest Opera

One of the world's shortest lecturers explained musical history's longest opera to the city's sparsest audience last night.

He also played some of the loudest music ever head in Newstead Hall to illustrate his lecture on the Wagnerian opera "Parsifal."

But for diminutive Wagnerian expert Fritz Mueller-Sarau, a sewing-machine salesman when not giving music lectures, the gathering last night was a personal triumph.

It marked one more chapter in his one-man campaign to stamp out the Nazi idea of Wagner's music as the voice of the superman.

He says the great German composer was not a crass materialist, but a great spiritual influence.

His lecture sent away about 30 converts last night, dazed with Wagner's mighty notes.

The turn-out was about 20 short of what the tiny lecturer needed to make the enterprise pay. He said he was down $10 on the deal—but would pay more than that to score off Hitler.

As soon as he can, he is going to give lectures on other Wagner works including "Lohengrin" and "The Flying Dutchman."

Last night's lecture was by way of an introduction to the broadcast playing of "Parsifal" for the first time in Canadian broadcasting history this Saturday.

It will be heard over CBU, Vancouver, starting at 10 a.m. The full opera takes five hours to complete.

To the Victoria lecturer's mind the opera, which deals with Parsifal's (Pure Fool's) progress through nature and temptation to God, is tops in the field.

He said he heard it first in 1933 and then again in 1939 just a few weeks after he got out of a German concentration camp.

"The second time I understood it," he said.

Douglas Street Choice As Road Outlet Explained

Reason for the provincial government's choice of Douglas Street for the outlet to the new Victoria-Patricia Bay express highway were given yesterday by the public works department.

The decision to use Douglas Street was announced last week.

The department has been criticized for its plan to use Douglas as a double-duty outlet to both the Pat Bay road and the Island Highway.

A public works department spokesman said yesterday Douglas was chosen, in preference to Quadra Street, for the Patricia Bay road outlet because it will provide a straighter and shorter route than Quadra.

He said Douglas has fewer side-road entrances, and that Quadra is heavily congested with many schools along the right-of-way.

COSTS HIGHER

Right-of-way costs would be much higher if Quadra were used, he said.

Besides, he said, Quadra, which at present is a "fairly good road," will still be usable. Thus Victorians will have two routes to the Pat Bay highway.

He denied that there would be trouble through traffic congestion on Douglas Street.

"The Fountain Circle will have to be straightened out," he admitted, "but that's the city's problem."

City Traffic Engineer Robert Doble said last night he thought the system would "work out very well," provided the changes were made at the roundabout.

COULD BEAR LOAD

He said Douglas Street was a 68-foot-wide road and was fully able to bear the heavy traffic anticipated. In addition it could feed traffic to all points in the city all the way along its straight course.

Quadra Street, he said, was too narrow to carry the heavy load from Sidney and up to now "has not had a very good accident record."

The alterations to the roundabout as indicated in Mr. Doble's traffic survey report last year would have the effect of eliminating the turning circle and channeling traffic straight through Douglas Street at Hillside.

He said without this alteration, the load on Douglas resulting from the government plan might not work out so well.

Retail sales in British Columbia in January totaled $77,680,000, down 2.74 per cent from the $79,869,000 total for January, 1951.

Value of exports through B.C. customs ports during February reached a new peak of $65,240,000, an increase in value of 63 per cent over exports in February of the previous year.

Imports entering the province in January were valued at $23,945,424, a decline of 4.31 per cent from January, 1951.

Winch Blasts Premier On "Move to Buy Votes"

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP).—Harold Winch, C.C.F. provincial leader, today blasted Premier Johnson for "political expediency" in dealing with hospital insurance.

He said in a statement appointment of a board to review borderline B.C.H.I.S. cases is a "straight political move to buy votes."

"I approve the establishment of a board," said Mr. Winch. "It was recommended by the hospital insurance committee of which I was a member."

But he said the premier refused to allow the legislature to discuss the committee's report while the House was in session. Then, after prorogation, an important recommendation was implemented by order-in-council.

Merchants' Victory Over Navy Leaves One Big Question

Commercial hockey league fans who filed out of the Memorial Arena last night after watching Merchants upset Navy, 6-5, in overtime had but one question on their minds.

Could Navy have held a three-game lead in the playoffs if Merchants had stuck strictly to hockey instead of the rough-house tactics employed by the Greenshirts of late?

Playing a comparatively clean brand of hockey, the Merchants upset the dope in its win over the Tars and forced a fifth game in the best-of-seven series which is slated for tomorrow night.

On the night's play, Merchants were much the better team as the Sailors came up with one of their infrequent off-color displays. However, the Merchants, by staying to clean hockey, came up with one of their sharper displays of the season and could give Navy plenty of trouble from here on in.

NEARLY BLEW

As it was, Merchants nearly blew a fine evening's work after four times taking the lead and seeing the persistent Tars retaliate to even the count. In fact, the Sailors were forced to come from behind with only 29 seconds remaining in the game, after they had pulled Sparks, their goalie, in favor of a sixth attacker.

Merchants' hard-checking style of play slowed the free-wheeling Navy attack considerably, but the Tars still managed to make life uncomfortable for Ab Ellis in the Merchants nets.

Ellis, who received the F. W. Francis trophy for the best goal-against average during regular season's play between the second and third periods, came up with a polished performance between the pipes. If it wasn't for his brilliant display, the game could have been over as early as the first period.

LOOSE PUCK

Merchants held a 2-1 edge at the end of the first period and a 3-2 bulge going into the third frame. With 29 seconds remaining in the game, Al Riches donned the hero's mantle for the Tars when he slapped in a loose puck after a prolonged scramble.

Merchants appeared to wrap up the game at the 39-second mark of the overtime period when Ken Gunter picked up his third goal. But John Bond neatly replied for the Sailors his third goal of the evening and they entered a sudden-death overtime period.

The end came suddenly for the 1,250 fans who were waiting hopefully for the finish of the contest. Bob Fowler, a replacement for Len Elphick from Individuals, took a pass from Gen Gunter and blasted a shot past Sparks, to provide the winning goal.

Navy had one thing to cheer about when Ray Shedlowski, their stellar rear guard was named the league's most valuable player and walked off with the A. H. Cox trophy.

Arsenal Blanks Chelsea In Replay to Reach Final

LONDON, April 7 (Reuters) — Glamor-team Arsenal today gave Chelsea a 3-0 drubbing to enter the finals of the soccer cup-tie trophy—biggest prize of the season.

Arsenal chalked up its triumph at a replay of last Saturday's 1-1 tied game. A crowd of 57,450 at the neutral Tottenham Hotspur ground attended.

The final at Wembley May 3 promises to be a ding-dong battle with the London team trying for its fourth trophy and the other finalist, Newcastle United, bidding to retain the cup it won last year.

Arsenal, in the finals for the sixth time all told, also has the chance to bring off the season's double — the cup and the top place in Division 1 of the English League, which it now shares with Manchester United, with one game in hand.

Freddy Cox, lightning opportunist on Arsenal's right wing, drove in two of today's goals. Only four minutes after his second goal, in the second half, inside left Doug Lishman headed in the third.

Chelsea, underdogs throughout despite several desperate attacks on the Arsenal net, dropped right out of the game after the trio of goals.

Arsenal last won the cup two years ago and it was a goal by the same Cox against the same semi-final contenders, Chelsea, that sent Arsenal through to the finals on that occasion.

Today's playing standard was not high but Arsenal was favored by a rain-sodden turf suited to "the gunners" technique.

Prime Minister Churchill will present the coveted trophy at the Wembley final. This was decided after the death of King George VI, who presented the cup in the past.

STILL NOT SETTLED

In Glasgow, two Scottish Cup semi-finalists, Hearts and Motherwell, today played out their second 1-1 draw.

Each scored once in the 90 minutes of regular time in the replay, at Hampden Park. Overtime passed without further score.

Just over a week ago they tied 1-1 in the first semi-final encounter, also at Hampden Park. The eventual winner will go forward into the final, April 19, against Dundee.

The second replay of the Hearts-Motherwell battle will take place Wednesday, at the same stadium.

Both of today's goals were scored in the first half, Rutherford netting for Hearts and Watson for Motherwell.

Blackpool defeated Newcastle 3-1 in an English League Division 1 match.

Mount View Wins Colonist Trophy; Defeats Bays, 2-1

BY IAN GLENDAY

A never-say-die band of Mount View soccer players came back from the brink of humiliation as Victoria High School yesterday to nip Oak Bay, 2-1, in a thrilling overtime epic and wrest The Colonist Cup, emblematic of high school soccer supremacy, from the trophy room of the Cranmore Road institution.

Oak Bay had forced the fourth game by edging the Saanich squad, 2-1, on Friday, after Mount View had held the defending champions to a scoreless draw in the opener and won the second, at Windsor Park, 1-0.

So yesterday's battle, with the handsome trophy at stake and the honor that accompanies a champion, was a natural from the opening whistle until the last ringing cheers of the jubilant Mount View supporters had died across the field.

OVERCAME DEFICIT

At that, the Bays forced the winners to dig deep in their bag of soccer tricks and overcome a 1-0 deficit that looked pretty safe at the end of the first half.

But Mount View gained the equalizer in the opening minutes of the second half, held on gamely while the Bays peppered its starry netminder Gene Pedneault with a rain of shots, and then pushed home the winner at the 15-minute mark in overtime play.

To say it was a tough one for the Bays to lose would be the understatement of the year, for they came close on numerous occasions. But no credit can be taken from the winners, who rose from obscurity in high school soccer with a rattling aggregation that startled the skeptics. And now they are champions, a title fully deserved.

BAYS UNLUCKY

Oak Bay held the better part of territorial play in the first half and were unlucky not to hold a bigger lead than the 1-0 score indicated. Again it was the sterling netminding of Pedneault that kept the score within reasonable proportions in the first half, although he was extremely lucky on several shots.

Gerry Rovers, who was brilliant during the entire series, put Oak Bay on the scoresheet midway through the opening half when he banged a rebound past Pedneault after a quick break through centre.

Oak Bay continued to swarm all around the Mount View citadel, but either shot directly at Pedneault or wide of the target. In fact, Mount View was rather lax on covering and afforded Pedneault little protection as the Bay attackers were allowed to move in at close range before shooting.

Mount View pressed slightly in the second frame, thanks to the first half, but could not beat Lawrie Veitch and the teams walked off the field with Oak Bay leading by a lone goal.

DIFFERENT TEAM

Perhaps it was a blistering oratory delivered by coach Ernie Livesay, or perhaps it was the repeated cheering of the Mount View cheer section, but, whatever the reason, Mount View was not the same team in the second half.

Taking the initiative from the whistle, Mount View stormed to the attack and forced several corners after repeated ganging attacks. Dick Stone finally notched the equalizer at the five-minute mark when he drove the ball into the corner after a goal-mouth scramble forced Veitch to make a pair of sparkling saves.

Although there was no further scoring in regulation time, both elevens came dangerously close, especially Oak Bay. Bays missed a golden opportunity to move into the lead when awarded an indirect free kick to the right of the posts, but Ken Barnes' sizzling drive caught the edge of the cross-bar and rebounded back into play.

This set the stage for Crowe's winning tally in the second ten-minute overtime period. With victory or defeat—riding on every kick, Crowe raced alone from centre and broke through the defence. He let drive with a scorcher while in full stride and the sphere caught the corner with Veitch well beaten.

TOAST OF SCHOOL

Pandemonium brooke loose at the final whistle with players, supporters and coach Livesay mobbing Crowe, carrying from the field the speedy centre-forward, who was brandishing the Colonist Cup from atop his lofty pedestal.

Crowe, Abtar Singh, Dave Price and George Wilmot also came up with excellent performances, as did the Mount View team as a unit.

Barnes, Rovers and Hurley, who made several beautiful crosses from his wing position, were outstanding for the conquered. Les Isaacson, noted Coast Soccer League referee, also deserved orchids for the efficient manner in which he handled all games.

Team line-ups:

Oak Bay—Veitch, Unwin, Stothard, Smith, Wright, Barnes, Rovers, Hurley, Little, Cross, Simpson.

Mount View—Pedneault, Wilmot, Munroe, Legget, Price, McBay, Orr, Stone, Crowe, Singh, Wilson.

Snead Captures Masters Title; Leonard Short

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 7.—Slammin' Sammy Snead shot a sound, conservative final round of par golf yesterday to win his second Masters title with a 72-hole 286—the highest score in the tourney's history.

Defying the wind that almost blew him out of the tournament Saturday when he slipped to a 77, Snead came up with a par 72 to win $4,000 first money.

Jackie Burke, the sensational Texan who won four straight P.G.A. tournaments this year, fired a brilliant 69 in the final round to slip into second place with 290. Jim Ferrier, Canadian Open champion from San Francisco, Tommy Bolt and Al Beselink, tied for third with 291's and Lloyd Mangrum had 292.

Ben Hogan, who had pulled even with Snead on the third round Saturday, ended with a 293 total.

Scores of 303 got into the money. Vancouver's Stan Leonard missed with a total of 305.

Crimson Tide Stages Rally To Stop Vets

The Ebb Tide showed a lot of its former skill in the first half but old age and soft muscles caught up with the ex-stars as they went down to an 18-8 defeat at the hands of Crimson Tide in an exhibition rugby game at Macdonald Park Saturday afternoon.

Much to the surprise of the fans the Ebb Tide rolled to an 8-3 lead at the half on a try by Doug Willard and a conversion and a penalty kick by Tom McKeachie.

Youth had its day in the second half and the Victoria Rugby Union's 1951-52 representative team scored almost at will.

Garry Pynn scored two tries and converted both, Gordy Pynn and Dave Cook both went over for tries and Bill Thorburn converted Cook's major.

HOCKEY MEETING

The Victoria Minor Hockey Association will hold a meeting in Room 6 of the Memorial Arena tonight at 7. All supervisors, coaches, etc., are asked to attend.

The New York Yankees have sent pitchers Tom Gorman, Ernie Nevel, Dick Carr and Overmire to the club's Kansas City farm team.

Royals Were Not The Only Losers

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., April 7 (CP).—One man dropped dead and another received a leg injury from a flying puck during the play-off hockey game between New Westminster Royals and Victoria Cougars here Saturday.

Henry Hewitt, 87, a native of Moose Jaw, Sask., suffered a heart attack.

William Howard received a possible fractured leg when he inadvertently blocked a high and wild pass.

Victoria West Blanks G-Men To Gain Final

Victoria West advanced into the final round of the Victoria Province Cup soccer competition by defeating Civil Service, 1-0, at the Lower Beacon Hill pitch Sunday.

Chick Newman scored at the 26-minute mark of the second half on a cross from Gordy Pynn to give Wests the semi-final victory.

Wests will now meet the winner of the Esquimalt-Legion contest in the final.

Playing before a large crowd and under excellent weather conditions, the teams battled evenly throughout with one break deciding the outcome. The defenses on both teams played outstanding games, sparked by Archie McMillan of Civil Service and Norm Richards of Wests.

Young Laurie Kerr, assistant professional at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, taught his elder opponents a few tricks Sunday at Colwood as he captured medal honors in the Vancouver Island Match Play Open golf tournament, sponsored by CJVI.

LAURIE KERR

Kerr beat Vancouver Island's best shotmakers as he went around his home course in 67—three under par.

He sliced three strokes off par on the out-going nine and then shot a regulation 35 on the in-coming nine, even though he had three bogies. On the 18 holes Kerr had six birdies, including one of the long 14th.

Kerr's card follows:

Par out	445	334	544	—35
Kerr out	345	344	444	—32
Par in	454	435	444	—35—70
Kerr in	445	432	445	—35—67

Joe Pryke, professional at the Gorge Vale Golf Club, was runner-up to Kerr with a 69—one under par.

BIGELOW BUSY

Three golfers tied for third place with 72's. They were Dr. George Bigelow, Ted Colgate and Eric Hibberson. Bigelow had to perform an emergency appendectomy Sunday morning and so missed his starting time.

He finally began his round at 11:30.

Dr. B. E. Knapp had the low net score—65, while Harold Lineham was next with a 67.

All qualifiers follow:

Laurie Kerr 67, Joe Pryke 69, Dr. G. Bigelow 72, Ted Colgate 72, Eric Hibberson 72, Harold Lineham 73, John Merriman 73, Ron McLeod 73, Bill McColl 73, Jim Roberts 74, Bob Macaroni 76, Bob Fleming 77, T. A. Harris 77, Don Gowan 77, J. Powell Posts Lone "Y" Win At Swim Meet

Stan Powell recorded the only Victoria Y.M.C.A. victory in the Pacific Northwest Y.M.C.A. swim championships at Seattle Saturday when he placed first in the 200-yard senior freestyle event.

Powell also placed second in the 100-yard backstroke competition.

Garth Anderson was third in the 100-yard junior A breaststroke and Robin Clark came fourth in the junior A freestyle. Anderson, Clark and Merlin Hawes came fourth in the 150-yard medley relay.

Wally Watson placed second in the junior B 75-yard individual medley and then teamed with Warren Williams and Bob Good to finish third in the 150-yard medley relay.

Cats May Be Idle Until April 17

Victoria Cougars may open their best-of-seven Pacific Coast Hockey League final series at home Saturday or they may have to wait until April 17 before seeing action again.

Regardless, tickets for two games to be played in Victoria will go on sale tomorrow afternoon at the hockey office at two o'clock. They will be limited to two to a customer for each game.

Season ticket holders will be required to pick up their tickets before 5 p.m. on the day prior to any scheduled play-off game in order to hold their seats.

A series of tentative dates for the finals was set up yesterday to cover all possibilities on the outcome of the Saskatoon-Tacoma series. Affecting the schedules was the fact that Memorial Arena will be tied up by road shows on April 18 and 24-26.

Rockets and Quakers meet in their third game tomorrow at Tacoma. If a fourth game is needed, the clubs will meet again at Tacoma Thursday, moving back to Saskatoon for a fifth game if Rockets should even the series.

If the series ends with Saskatoon wins on Wednesday or Thursday, the finals will open in Victoria Saturday the 12th and Monday the 14th, then Friday the 18th and Saturday the 19th in Saskatoon, with a game Monday the 21st in Saskatoon, if necessary, and further games, if necessary on the 23rd in Victoria and the 26th in Saskatoon.

If Tacoma wins, the Saskatoon-Tacoma finals will continue at Saskatoon Monday the 14th. If Saskatoon wins that game, the finals against the Cougars will open in Saskatoon on the 17th and 19th. If Tacoma wins, the series will open in Victoria on the 17th with the second game in Tacoma on the 19th.

Trail Ousted By Edmonton

TRAIL, B.C., April 7 (CP).—Edmonton Pats clipped Trail Smoke-eaters 2-1 Saturday to win the best-of-seven Western Canada Allan Cup semi-final four games to two.

Pats now face Fort Frances Canadians in the Western Canada final. Fort Frances defeated Letellier Maple Leafs 5-4 at Winnipeg Saturday to win their best-of-seven semi-final four games to two.

SOCCER SCHOOL

The Dominion Football Association-sponsored soccer school will hold a session for coaches at the Centennial gymnasium Thursday night at 8.

Postponed Junior Final Cuts Juvenile Day Card

Inability of the mainland champions to book traveling berths has caused postponement of the provincial junior soccer final from Friday until Sunday.

Victoria Combines, Island champions, were originally scheduled to meet Norburns, Mainland titlists, in the preliminary to the annual Juvenile Day card, co-sponsored by the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association and The Daily Colonist. The game will now be played at Lower Beacon Hill at 1 p.m. Sunday.

The Juvenile Day card will now be a two-game affair. Legion will play a representative team from the Greater Victoria fire departments at 1 p.m. and the Victoria and District All-Stars will meet Victoria United at 2:30 p.m.

TWO GAMES SET

In provincial championships still scheduled in Victoria Good Friday Tillicum Athletic Club will meet Halcro Club of Vancouver for the B.C. Division I title and the Con Jones Cup at Lower Beacon Hill at 1 p.m.; Army, Navy and Air Force Vets will play Frasera Farms of Vancouver for the Con Jones Cup and the Division II championship at the same grounds at 3 p.m.

Mic Macs, Division IV, and James Bay Merchants, Division III, will travel to Vancouver Good Friday for provincial championship matches there.

The undefeated Division V Eagles will not meet the Mainland winners in the provincial finals until April 20 in Vancouver. The game was rescheduled because the Mainland champion has not been decided as yet.

COMBINES WIN

Victoria Combines won the junior division knockout competition Sunday by defeating Heaney's, 1-0, in the final.

Army, Navy and Air Force Vets were named Division II champions when Harris Cycles defaulted the final game Sunday. The Vets have now won both first and second half titles and so capture the Colonist Cup.

James Bay Merchants defeated Eagles, 1-0, in a Division III league game Sunday.

The Division V Eagles lost their first game of the season Sunday, a 4-0 lacing by Vancouver Capilanos, in an exhibition game. It was also the first time the Eagles have been scored on this season.

Juvenile Hockey

Maroons and Senators will meet in the first game of a two-game total-goal series for the Victoria juvenile hockey championship today at Memorial Arena at 5:30 p.m.

The second game will be played Thursday at the same time.

Hibberson Displays Golf Form

Eric Hibberson shot fair round of golf Sunday at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, but it was not good enough to capture medal honors in CJVI sponsored Vancouver Island Match Play Open golf tournament. Hibberson tied with Dr. George Bigelow and Ted Colgate for third place in qualifying round with 72's. Laurie Kerr was medalist with three-under-par 67. Hibberson is shown here keeping his head down after making drive. Watching are, left to right, Cy Spaven, Bob Woods and Bill Court (Colwood professional).—(Photo by Jim Crawford.)

Hamilton Crushed By Eilers' Power

VANCOUVER, April 7—(CP)—Vancouver Eilers crushed Hamilton Zion Ramblers 53-32 tonight in the opening game of the best-of-five Canadian Senior Women's Basketball final.

A 21-point splurge by forward Nora McDermot carried Eilers to their decisive victory over the eastern team. The halftime score was 24-21 in favor of Eilers.

The second game will be played here tomorrow night.

The Hamilton team, all through the game, appeared slow and listless. Jo Brennan, their tall centre, was unable to stop shallow hook shots from her opposing centres, Bev Slater and Hap Piper, and after the first half Ramblers offered little opposition in the form of checking.

Both teams had the same number of players, eight, but Rambler coach Wilf Johnson kept both Miss Brennan and guard Dolores Ross on the floor for the whole game.

The pace definitely told on Miss Ross whose check, Nora McDermot, scored 11 points in the final quarter.

Nora's sister, Louise, netted four points and was on the floor whenever Nora was playing.

In the fourth, when Johnson called a time out, he asked Dolores what the trouble was.

"I can't help it if they're twins," she replied, meaning she couldn't tell the McDermot girls apart.

Ramblers kept pace with the Vancouver club in the first half. Eilers went to a 10-6 lead at the end of the first quarter but Ramblers outscored Eilers 15-14 in the second to reduce the margin to three points.

After the breather, however, Eilers tossed caution to the wind and began playing their fast wide-open game.

The move paid off as they scored 10 points without a reply.

Eilers outscored Ramblers 15-6 in that quarter. Fern McAndrew sinking Ramblers' three baskets.

In the final Eilers outscored the Eastern quintet by the same nine-point margin.

There were only about 400 persons at the game tonight, about half the number which attended each game of the Western final.

Giants Picked to Repeat Despite Loss of Irwin

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 7 (AP).—Bobby Thomson convinced me. With one swipe of the bat, he converted a non-believer to the cause of Leo Durocher, Sal Maglie and Al Dark. Not even Monte Irvin's broken ankle can change my mind.

Eddie Stanky left to manage St. Louis. Willie Mays will go into the army in January and Irvin is out for months with his ankle injury. But the solid core of the club—that "big three" pitching staff of Maglie, Larry Jansen and Jim Hearn remain.

Most of all, because I'll never forget that "miracle" finish of '51 I have to pick New York Giants to repeat in the National League.

With Irvin out Brooklyn Dodgers should be a heavy favorite to breeze home. They're the solid club of baseball in eight positions. But they couldn't win last year with Don Newcombe. How can they do it without him?

PHILLIES RATE

The Phillies, with Curt Simmons back in mid-month, could take it all. Stanky's fire and hustle are sure to help the Cards in a tangible way if his young pitchers come through. Boston's kids must all be Ty Cobbs to make the Braves a contender.

Maglie, one of the better pitchers in baseball, is the big man of the staff. With Jansen, Hearn, Dave Koslo and Max Lanier following regular order, manager Durocher gets first class pitching every day.

Durocher must come up with another outfielder, or perhaps a [illegible] Bob Elliott to plug that gap created by Irvin's injury.

TOO MANY "IFS"

Dodger chances depend on manager Chuck Dressen's ability to find a replacement for Newcombe, the 20-game winner now in the army. Dressen counts on Clem Labine but it's a long hop from Labine's 5-1 to Newk's 20-9.

If Labine makes it big, if Chris Van Cuyk finally arrives, if cookies like Ben Wade and John Rutherford come through, the Brooks could walk home as they seemed to be doing last August—before the 13½-game lead crumbled.

With Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, Pee Wee Reese, Gil Hodges, Carl Furillo, Billy Cox, Andy Pafko and Duke Snider, they probably have the best first eight in the game.

Yankees Choice to Win Fourth Pennant in Row

BY JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 7 (AP).—Can Casey Stengel two-platoon the New York Yankees to a fourth straight American League pennant without Joe DiMaggio? I'll vote the "yes" ticket.

This swing-shift club barely compares with the block-busters Joe McCarthy led to four straight flags and world championships in the 1936-39 stretch. But it will do until a better one comes along.

On paper Cleveland Indians, with their three 20-game winners in Bobby Feller, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn, look to be the class. They may crack Manager Stengel's run toward a record-tying four straight. But they'll have to learn how to win at Yankee Stadium.

Failure in the Stadium, where the Indians won only one of 11 starts, was the vital factor in Cleveland's 1951 defeat.

TWO-CLUB RACE

It appears to be a two-club race with Boston and Chicago filling out the first division. Here's our guess on the probable finish:

1. New York
2. Cleveland
3. Chicago
4. Boston
5. Detroit
6. Philadelphia
7. St. Louis
8. Washington

Actually there seems little to pick among the Athletics, Browns and Senators. If Rogers Hornsby gets some pitching to help Ned Garver they might turn out the best of the bunch.

ALL STOPPERS

Stengel's three pitching aces—Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat—all are stoppers. Tom Morgan or rookie Harry Schaefer may fit into the No. 4 spot.

The problem of filling DiMaggio's old centrefield job has narrowed down to Jackie Jensen or Gene Woodling. Mickey Mantle, taking no chances with the right knee he hurt in the series, will stay in right field. With Hank Bauer in left, Stengel thinks he has the best outfielders—if not outfield—in the league.

The infield will be two-platooned again with shortstop Phil Rizzuto the solid fixture. Gil McDougald and rookie Andy Carey will take care of second and third.

HITTING PROBLEM

Cleveland's problem is more consistent hitting to back up the three 20-game winners and Bob Lemon, who usually wins 20.

With Ted Williams going into the Marines May 2, Boston probably will be completely revamped during the season.

The go-go Chicago White Sox will be as fast and daring as ever with help from rookie third baseman Hector Rodriguez, a .302 hitter at Montreal.

With Art Houtteman back from the army, Detroit expects stronger pitching. But Manager Red Rolfe is weak at first base and shortstop.

Remember When . .

One of hockey's most dramatic scenes occurred 24 years ago tonight at Montreal when Lester Patrick, then 41 years old and managing the New York Rangers, went into the nets to replace goalie Lorne Chabot who had been badly injured by a flying puck. Patrick held the Montreal Maroons to one goal in 43 minutes, and Rangers won the game 2-1 and the Stanley Cup.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Here's a player lined up for a long shot with wood. Notice that the ball is played off the left heel and this is as it should be. The ball is positioned forward of centre with long woods and long irons because the longest flight is obtained if the impact between clubface and ball occurs just after the clubhead has passed the lowest point of the swing and has started to rise. With a straight faced No. 1 wood the ball must be teed up to get the correct height in flight to yield the most yardage. The ball is moved back perhaps an inch nearer centre for a No. 2 wood, the brassie, because the brassie is more lofted than the driver. And by so positioning the ball the clubhead contacts it just as the clubhead passes the low point in the swing and starts up. This gives the longest control flight. And for the same reason the ball is positioned another inch nearer centre for the spoon, your No. 3 wood.

Alberni Drops Senior Hoop?

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP).—Alberni may quit the senior men's basketball circuit, it was reported here Saturday.

Norm Gloag, chairman of the Vancouver Basketball Commission, said Alberni, though holding its own competitively, was not a financial success this season.

Next season there may be a four-team Lower Mainland senior league with either North Vancouver or U.B.C. Jayvees entering an inter-city circuit to include Ellers, Clover Leafs and Arctic.

Mazur, Masnick Score for Canvens

Patrick Forced to Make Change

MONTREAL, April 7 (CP).—Coach Lynn Patrick of the Boston Bruins will wear an entirely different ensemble here tomorrow night.

The impeccably-dressed Patrick hopes the change in clothes will give his team the switch in luck needed to defeat Montreal Canadiens in the deciding game of their best-of-seven semi-final [illegible]

Bruins dropped the first two games on Montreal ice, then came back to take two at Boston and a third in Montreal. After his charges swept to their first victory, Patrick said he would not change his clothes until his team dropped a game.

With the teams on equal footing following the Montrealers' 3-2 victory last night, Patrick is expected to arrive with his bag packed for a change. He seemed uncomfortable in his wrinkled suit and soiled shirt when he left here, although he said he "would suffer it out, even through the finals with Detroit if his team took Canadiens."

ROCKET IN FORM

Main cheering news for Canadiens' followers was the fact that Maurice (Rocket) Richard showed sustained bursts of his old-time speed in the last game. His solo goal in the second period tied up the game.

Richard reported after the game that he bruised a knee, but this is expected to be cleared up for tomorrow's tilt. Big Butch Bouchard has a charley horse in his right leg resulting from a collision with Milt Schmidt, but the big rearguard will be back to form.

Irvin was greatly impressed with Eddie Mazur and Paul Masnick, brought up from the American Hockey League for the important contest at Boston. Both tallied, with Masnick's overtime goal the winner.

HENRY BREAKS NOSE

The Boston team came out of the fray with only one injury reported. It was the broken nose of Sugar Jim Henry, and if it throws the Bruin goalie off form could well mean the series to the beantown brigade.

Bruins jumped into a two-goal lead on first-period tallies by Schmidt and Dave Creighton. Mazur slapped in Billy Reay's rebound during a scramble early in the second period and Richard tied it up with nine minutes left to play. Masnick fired his winner after 27 minutes and 49 seconds of overtime.

Exchange of Information Aim of Chamber Scheme

A hands-across-the-border program to promote goodwill between Canadians and Americans was launched this week by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Its 700 member groups are asked to co-operate in an all-out information exchange effort to correct misconceptions about Canada.

It is also directing a special appeal to retailers and others to be scrupulously fair in the matter of exchange rates for U.S. currency.

The Canadian Chamber says that it has reports of merchants discounting the U.S. dollar below the current rate.

This, according to the chamber, antagonizes the U.S. tourist and reacts unfavorably against Canada.

Hector Crombie of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, commenting upon the new goodwill program, said that he has received no complaints locally of merchants asking more than the current rate when changing U.S. dollars.

"At the same time, we would like to stress that local retailers are as courteous as they can in dealing with tourists with U.S. dollars," said Mr. Crombie.

He added that although many firms were asking a premium of two cents on the U.S. dollar, Island tourist authorities are looking for a bigger tourist season than ever this summer.

"We have indications that more people than ever will be coming to Vancouver Island from the United States," he said. "Of course, with the U.S. dollar now worth less, they may not spend quite as much per capita."

Smile Show May Travel

The Gerry Gosley Smile Show may yet be the first Canadian concert party to go to Korea and entertain Canadian troops.

Both Brig. John Rockingham and Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., have urged the minister of defence to send entertainers over to the troops, and the Smile Show has received a recommendation from both of them.

In a letter to Maj.-Gen. Pearkes recently, the minister said that when it has been decided to send such groups to Korea, the Smile Show will receive every consideration.

College Plans To Start Retail Courses

Courses of instruction for prospective retail salesmen and store owners will be given at the Victoria College evening division during May.

Prof. L. M. Vukelich of the U.B.C. school of commerce will conduct the classes.

The whole course will consist of ten Monday lectures, divided into two sessions of five lectures each.

The first series will run from May 12 to June 9 and the second from September 8 to October 9.

Talks on retail credit will be given at the college from 7.30 p.m. to 9 and store management lectures from 3.30 to 5.30 p.m.

The whole series is being sponsored by the Credit Granters' Association and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and will include retail salesmanship, buying, arithmetic, fashion, credit interview and collection methods.

Professor Vukelich is a graduate of the University of Washington in business administration and has had eight years' experience with one of the largest retail establishments in the United States.

NERVOUS, UPSET
Tightened up Nerves can make you tense, strained and jumpy—easily irritated.
CAN'T REST
Lack of proper rest makes you drag through the day, feeling miserable.
RUN-DOWN
When you are tired, run-down, you may fall easy prey to colds and other illness
IF YOU ARE feeling "LOW" in body and mind, it's time to look after yourself—right now! If you think your trouble is organic, then see your Doctor and have a thorough physical check-up.
If it is "Nerves", or you are doing a job which makes heavy demands and drains on your nervous energy, then just consider this—how many times have you heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food? It is not just by chance that this name comes up when "Nerves" are mentioned.
IT IS BECAUSE this well-known product is specially effective for people with "nervous" troubles. Hundreds of thousands have found that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped them to build up their energy and general health—and so regain the vigor and high spirits to do their work with enthusiasm and enjoy their leisure hours to the full.
NOT A SEDATIVE
This fact is IMPORTANT if you really want long-lasting relief and real improvement. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is not a sedative to quieten your nerves for one night's sleep, but which might leave you feeling still more nervous and restless the next day.
INSTEAD—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, containing Vitamin B_1, Iron and other essential minerals, is a time-tested formula which brings not only quick relief, but a constructive building up of your body and nervous system. These tonic properties quickly go to work to improve your appetite, aid digestion, and improve the blood. They help to build up your nerves to a new quiet strength—help you to look better, feel fresher, and more capable of meeting your every-day problems.
You Want Improvement Quickly
So try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and see how it can help you—to build up your nervous energy—your general all-round health and vitality, help you get proper rest and improve your appetite.
Start today to take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food on the 6-week Plan. The cost is small for such worthwhile results.
RESULTS IN 6 WEEKS or $10.00
To encourage you to carry through the 6-week Plan and thus enjoy the maximum benefits, we make this offer.
You must be delighted with how well you feel after taking 6 small ($4.74) or 2 large boxes ($3.96) of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. If NOT, return 6 direction sheets from small boxes, or 2 top carton flaps from large boxes, and you will receive $10.00 from the Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Oakville, Ont.—over twice cost of the Nerve Food.
REMEMBER—either we pay you over double the cost of the plan, or you find out it's worth ten times the cost to you to enjoy better health.
HEED NATURE'S WARNING
THAT "TIRED-OUT" SPRING FEELING ATTACKS NEARLY EVERYONE
After a long, hard Winter—cold, damp weather; short days; indoor living; heavy food—no wonder our bodies feel tired and "nerves" are edgy. Right now, at the tag-end of the Winter, is the ideal time to take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for 6 weeks. Get it from your druggist today.

Cabin Cruiser Blown Ashore

Hubert L. Bevan's almost new cabin cruiser Windward suffered considerable damage throughout yesterday after grounding on the rocky shoreline of Deep Cove.

Valued in the neighborhood of $15,000 the pleasure craft broke from her Deep Cove moorings over Sunday night during a strong southwesterly wind. Within minutes she was on the rocks. Attempts to free her were still under way late yesterday.

Police Chief John Blackstock has finally found two men he considers suitable for the Victoria police force.

The "Help Wanted, Male" sign was out for nearly two weeks and the chief interviewed many applicants before the men were hired.

However he is still looking for one more man who will be needed about June 1.

Applications are still being accepted for the force and personal interviews with the chief can be arranged by telephone.

"It's so rich we enjoy more flavor and use less coffee!"

Always rich coffee with the flavor sealed in!

No finer coffee packed...yet extra-rich Edwards costs no more than well-known quality coffees sold in paper bags!

Rich coffee not only tastes better, it goes further! And that's why extra-rich Edwards Coffee is such a favorite with real coffee-lovers today. They know Edwards is no weak and watery brew... it's full-flavored coffee that never needs to be "excused." Edwards is roasted only to order... in small, rich batches... then rushed direct to your Safeway. You get it with a full richness that a good coffee ought to have... and you get it fresh. More flavor... less coffee... that's the real story of Edwards popularity! One fresh pound will prove it.

Hard Times in Sight for B.C. Lumber

VANCOUVER, April 7 (CP).—Lumbermen said today British Columbia's timber industry is facing its hardest times in more than a decade. They reported:

Practically no new business with sterling area countries, which for years have taken approximately 40 per cent of the output;

Rapid falling off of the North American market because of curbs on housing credit in Canada and a sharp reduction in new construction in the United States;

Growing competition from American supplies in the Prairie market.

Bulk buying by the United Kingdom Timber Control, mainstay of the big export mills in B.C., ended with return to private buying under Britain's Conservative Government.

Officials of export companies said inquiries from private buyers in Britain were practically non-existent. The same held true for Australia, South Africa and other sterling countries.

The Coast mills are still working on United Kingdom bulk orders for some 680,000,000 board feet, placed last year.

"But when we complete deliveries in September, there is nothing more in sight," a spokesman for the exporters said.

He estimated North American sales so far this year at "30 per cent of what they were last year."

"Not in many years has the industry faced a situation as serious as the present, brought about by such a combination of adverse factors," said a director of one forest industry.

The B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association said it had failed in efforts to try to persuade Canadian railways to cut freight rates to a level which would enable B.C. to compete on the Prairie market with Washing and Oregon mills.

Hemlock, cedar and fir logs were all down in price.

One operator said No. 3 hemlock logs have fallen from $62.50 a thousand feet last autumn to $45 today. Cedar logs were down from $125 a thousand to between $65 and $55.

Hydrographic Charts Show Price Increase

Canadian hydrographic charts which formerly sold for 50 cents each now cost 75 cents, reports the Canadian Hydrographic Service of the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys. Charts which previously sold for 25 cents now cost 50 cents.

Science against pain
Science progresses: For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for the relief of pain. Today this familiar painkiller is available in a new form without the disadvantage of insolubility, acidity and bitter taste. It is called DISPRIN.
Why take DISPRIN?
Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.
DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it promptly dissolves (not merely disintegrates) it permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.
DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.
Science steps forward with
DISPRIN ...FOR PAIN RELIEF
SAFE SPEEDY PLEASANT
DISPRIN is now available at your druggist. Bottles of 24 tablets at Handy Pocket Folders of 8.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

LOG PRISONERS

Uncle Wiggily, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Fox, was much surprised when those two bears rushed out of the bushes and growled:

"Get away from our play log! Get away from our play log, you two bad foxes!"

The first thing Uncle Wiggily noticed, after he had gotten over some of his surprise, was hearing the two bears speak of two "bad" foxes.

"Mr. and Mrs. Fox are bad enough, that is true," thought the rabbit to himself. "But they might be a lot worse. But why did the two bears order the foxes to get away from this play log? And why didn't they order me away. They didn't mention me at all. They scarcely looked at me. They are looking at Mr. and Mrs. Fox.

Uncle Wiggily had one more question to ask. It was this:

"Why do the two bears call this a play log?"

The rabbit gentleman was going to ask another question. And that question was: "Who are these bears?" But he did not need to ask himself that last question. For as he looked again he saw that the two bears were Neddie and Beckie Stubtail. The bears were good friends of Uncle Wiggily and liked him very much.

"Get away from our play log," growled Neddie Stubtail.

"Did you say this was your play log?" asked Mrs. Fox.

"That's what I said," growled Neddie.

"How do you know it is your play log?" asked Mr. Fox. "From the way Uncle Wiggily has been running back and forth inside this hollow log, it would seem to be his play log, and not yours."

"This play log belongs to my sister Beckie and to me," growled Neddie Stubtail. "Uncle Wiggily may play inside or outside this log as much as he likes, but you two foxes can't play here."

"Do you ever crawl inside the log as I did to get away from the foxes?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Beckie and I are such big bears now," said Neddie, "that we cannot crawl inside the log. But we play around outside and sharpen our claws. Come on, Uncle Wiggily! Play with us at this log. Run up and down on the outside. Then run up and down inside."

"Thank you, but I cannot do that," answered the rabbit.

"Why not?" asked Beckie.

"Because my fur coat is stuck on a splinter at this end of the log," replied Mr. Longears. "I cannot go inside the log and I can't pull loose to run up and down outside. I am stuck."

"I will soon unstick you," growled Neddie kindly. With one of his big claws the boy bear broke the splinter loose from the log. In a moment Uncle Wiggily was free. Seeing this, Mr. and Mrs. Fox made a rush to get the rabbit.

"Oh, no you don't!" growled Neddie. He caught Mr. Fox. "Now you catch Mrs. Fox, Beckie!" called the boy bear. "We will stuff them inside the hollow log. It will be their jail. They will be in prisoners. Catch Mrs. Fox, Beckie."

5-B—30

In another moment the two foxes had been caught by the bears and stuffed, one in each end of the hollow log. Uncle Wiggily was safe.

What is going to happen next? I will tell you on Monday, if the egg beater doesn't turn the television upside down so the cabbage in the picture is standing on its head.

When a player has played as much bridge as high ranking life master Sidney Silodor, he probably has many more than one "favorite" hand. This is Sidney's other choice among hands of which he is proud; his off-time partner, Charles H. Goren has called it the neatest defensive play of the match in which the United States team defeated the British in the 1950 world championship.

West, Silodor, opened the five of diamonds. East's ace won and a diamond return was won by South's king. Declarer went after the spades by leading the nine and, although a finesse of dummy's 10 was the right percentage play, he chose instead to take a top spade and hope to drop the jack. As a result, West was on lead with the fourth round of spades. Now he could lead a diamond and develop a trick to be cashed when he got in with the ace of clubs, but that would give him only four tricks. And, since a diamond lead would put South in his hand, the almost certain club lead toward dummy would disclose the blank ace and give South his ninth trick assuming as was likely, that he held the king of hearts.

You see how far ahead Silodor was looking when he did not return that diamond and chose, instead, the ten of hearts. True this might give South a free finesse if he held the heart jack. But it would not give him an additional trick for the reason that he would be unable to take advantage of the free finesse and still have an exit card from dummy. So declarer did exactly as Silodor expected he would—He figured that West's lead marked East with the queen of hearts. He won the ten with dummy's ace, cashed the good spade and led dummy's last heart, finessing the jack in the attempt to gain his ninth trick. West took the trick with the queen, and now the jack of diamonds lead made sure that the three notrump contract would be defeated.

Last Immigrants Leave Old Station

The last New Canadian immigrant from Europe has left the old red-brick immigration station on Ontario Street to seek fame and fortune in this golden land.

Immigration officials said yesterday no new arrivals were expected here in the near future "except possibly two or three at a time."

In future, newcomers will be boarded out while awaiting jobs in their new homeland. Projected move of the immigration offices to the new Post Office building means that quarters will no longer be available for immigrants.

The present immigration building will be converted to a quarantine station to replace facilities long used at William Head and reported soon to be taken over for defense purposes.

For most of the last crop of immigrants, now placed in jobs on the Island, the start on a Canadian adventure was not without delay. Arriving here during the winter slack employment period, they found the job picture less bright than the advance advertising.

TEDIOUS STAY

They claimed to have been told jobs and homes were waiting ready to hand in Canada. Instead, they were forced to put in a tedious stay at the station before getting a chance to mount that first rung on the Canadian ladder.

A majority of them are skilled tradesmen. Not all of them have been able to pick up the tools of the trade here.

As a result, electricians, toolmakers, mechanics and other craftsmen have had to take the first jobs that came along, and in many cases will still have a waiting period and a language hurdle to cross before getting into the work for which they were trained.

Closing of quarters at the old Ontario Street station will mark an end to era for the department in this city. Still in place in the basement of the building are the old-fashioned fixtures of kitchens used to feed new arrivals in the city's earlier days.

The equipment includes the big metal pots used to cook rice for Orientals entering Canada to work in the developing West.

Telegrams Accepted In Spite of Strike

Despite the week-old communications strike in the United States, Victoria telegraph offices are still accepting telegrams to a great many points.

Officials said yesterday they can handle telegrams to certain places that are specified on a list of towns that have offices in operation.

"They keep adding to the list every day, and we are accepting telegrams, subject to delay," telegraph officials said.

Telegrams are also beginning to trickle into Victoria from the strike-bound areas.

Officials say the supervisory staffs of the U.S. offices are handling the work as far as possible.

Royal Oak Rhubarb On Market

First Island-grown field rhubarb has been received here, wholesalers reported yesterday.

About 150 pounds was received, at 12 cents a pound. The fruit will be available on the retail market at a slightly higher price.

The field rhubarb was grown near Royal Oak.

Florida corn is also available at 20 cents a cob.

Potato prices went up a few cents yesterday as supplies remained scarce. Prices are approximately $8.25 a hundred pounds retail on new potatoes. A carload of Montana potatoes received yesterday is not believed likely to ease the situation.

Asparagus is to be received today but the telegraph strike in the United States has delayed news on price quotations.

MORE AWAITED

Wholesalers are also awaiting California cabbage and lettuce and Oregon parsnips and green peas.

Oranges and Florida pink and white grapefruit were received yesterday at firm prices.

On other foods, egg prices to the producer are Grade A large, 33 cents a dozen; Grade A medium, 31; Grade A small, 29, and Grade B, 28. Wholesale prices are Grade A large, 46-47; Grade A medium, 44-45; Grade A small, 42-43 cents; and Grade B, 38.

Meat supplies are adequate and prices steady, packers reported.

Sale of colored margarine is going well, but sales reported are no larger than before the coloring was added.

Drivers Draw Fines of $200

Two motorists, arrested during the week-end and charged with driving while their ability to do so was impaired by alcohol, were fined a total of $400 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court yesterday.

Pleading guilty to the charges were Merle Rimmer, Island Highway, Langford, and S. S. Haldorson, H.M.C.S. Naden.

They were each fined $200 and had their licenses suspended. Reports will be made to the motor vehicle branch.

Pearl Mickelson, 830 Fort, pleaded guilty to driving without a current driver's license and was fined $25.

Observer Describes Plight of Kashmir

The people of Kashmir are on the proverbial spot. Their contrasting land of high mountains and deep valleys sits between the two disputing countries of India and Pakistan.

The Kashmir government is openly described as being corrupt; taxes are extremely high, trade has been throttled, poverty and filth flourish among the masses.

A verbal picture of Kashmir's plight was presented to the Gyro Club yesterday by Maj. H. S. C. Archbold, who recently spent a year in that country as a military observer for the United Nations.

"It had been thought Kashmir would be well cared for, after India gained her independence," Maj. Archbold said, "but that hope has not been fulfilled to date. If anything, the people there are worse off now than they were five years ago."

To illustrate the poverty of Kashmir's people, he told of rag clothing, an acute scarcity of food, and farmers using tree trunks with protruding sharp sticks as plows.

He said the government there was "inefficient, and openly attempting Communistic principles. The people there are ripe for Communism, but they are not accepting it."

Harry Tobin Rotary Head At Sidney

SIDNEY, April 7.—Harry Tobin, Sidney immigration inspector, was elected president of the Sidney Rotary Club at the annual meeting last week. He takes the place of Gordon T. German, Sidney banker, whose term of office had expired.

Supporting Mr. Tobin on the executive of the service club are vice-president, C. S. Goode; secretary, N. Greenhill; treasurer, L. Christian, and directors A. Moran, W. C. James, and S. Watling.

Novel attraction in Sidney staged by the Rotary Club is a midnight matinee to be featured at the Gem Theatre on Sunday night. Proceeds of the midnight show will be devoted to the funds of the club. Each year the club has staged a special attraction for this purpose.

The only tire that protects you from all three driving hazards... blowouts, punctures and dangerous skids

It's here . . . the revolutionary B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire that needs no inner tube. The air-retaining lining is actually a part of the tire itself.

A DREAM COME TRUE

Ever since B. F. Goodrich built tires for the first automobile manufactured on this continent, the dream of tire engineers has been a pneumatic tire that would need no inner tube. During World War II, B. F. Goodrich research made such a tire possible. It was used on combat vehicles under the most difficult driving conditions. Later the Tubeless Tire was perfected for use on automobiles. In 1946 tests were made on police cars and taxi fleets. It was a complete success . . . a dream come true . . . the B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire that protects against punctures, blowouts and dangerous skids.

PROVEN ON THE ROAD

The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire has been used for over four years in the U.S.A. by thousands of motorists. Their acceptance and exceptional mileage reports are your guarantee that this is the finest tire you can buy.

B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tires fit your present rims. No special fittings are needed. The scientifically designed rim-seal ridges form an air-tight pressure lock against the rim. It can't come off . . . doesn't lose air.

See this revolutionary tire now at your neighbourhood B. F. Goodrich dealer.

PROTECTS AGAINST PUNCTURES

A layer of sealant rubber, under the tread, sticks to any puncturing object preventing loss of air. When the object is removed, the puncture seals itself instantly and permanently.

PROTECTS AGAINST BLOWOUTS

Most blowouts start when a tire is bruised. The damaged casing pinches and chafes the inner tube until it blows.

The B.F.G. Tubeless Tire has no inner tube to blow out. Damage to the tire can only cause pinhole leaks that lose air so slowly you have miles in which to make a safe, easy stop.

PROTECTS AGAINST DANGEROUS SKIDS

The Tubeless Tire has an amazing new tread with thousands of flexible rubber "grip-blocks". These tiny blocks grip like a tank tread, giving greater traction than conventional tires . . . up to 40% more on wet roads . . . up to 100% more on ice. The flexibility of this new tread increases tire mileage 10 to 15%.

P. B. Freedman Determined To Seek Legislature Seat

If there is one thing certain about the political picture in Victoria it is the fact that P. B. Freedman (Freeman of London) is going to seek election to the B.C. legislature.

The former veteran auctioneer who was once expelled from an English school "because of a fight among the choir boys" said yesterday he would seek nomination by the Social Crediters.

He described himself as one of the newest members of the party which has moved into B.C. for the first time and is reported ready to name condidates in all ridings for the coming election.

Failing nomination by the Social Crediters, he said, he would run as an independent, "but I am going to run."

An unsuccessful aldermanic candidate in the last civic elections, the determined Mr. Freedman described the Social Credit party as being as near as possible "the one party most closely following the pattern by which I have always tried to live, namely, honesty . . . decency . . . loyalty to country . . . and aid and comfort to my fellowman."

LITTLE FAITH

He said he had very little faith in "any of the other parties previously or currently in power" and "believed solidly" that if more politicians followed the Ten Commandments there would be "far less crooked political machinations, graft, complimentary appointments and all the other semi-criminal tendencies . . ."

The latest aspirant to the legislature said he had been described at his auction sales as "a good man . . . a bad man . . . a philanthropist . . . a tightwad . . . a heel . . . a gentleman . . ."

One woman even found time to accuse him "of not wearing his hat correctly," he said

[illegible] "no matter what his frailties, he's always a jolly good fellow and is only too pleased to see all people happy."

Born in London, England, the auctioneer-politician was apprenticed to the precious metals and diamonds business, he related, and joined the First Field Telegraph Section of the Royal Engineers at 16.

Later he transferred to the old Royal Flying Corps and then to the R.A.F.

COSTLY INVENTION

After discharge he came to Canada, where he patented several inventions, "one of which caused him the loss of many thousands of dollars."

The invention in question was a chair that could be shifted to "12 different positions."

He established his auction business in Victoria in 1939 after a Canadian career that included a stint in the clothing manufacturing business in Toronto.

The auctioneering lasted until 1949, when ill health and other setbacks forced him to retire.

Since then he has been in the public eye for the civic election effort and for his tenacious fight for the rehabilitation of the city-owned Prince Robert House as a servicemen's centre."

He's going to be just as tenacious about running for the Legislature, he claimed.

"If nominated by the Social Crediters I will go all out on their platform," he said. "However, if I am not nominated I intend to run as an Independent still leaning fully toward the same party."

Stern Warning Given

Youths Acquitted in Break-In Case

Two Victoria youths were cleared of breaking and entering charges yesterday in Assize Court, and given a stern warning by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

"Get jobs and behave yourselves," Mr. Justice Wilson told James Rigby, 17, of 130 Burnside, and Ayliffe Hulbert, 16, 1512 Pearl, after the jury had returned a not guilty verdict.

Both were charged with the January 23 burglary of the Lone Star Service Station, 2121 Douglas.

A third youth, L. J. Robinson, 16, of 1151 View, pleaded guilty in police court to the robbery, and was given a two-year penitentiary sentence.

WARNS PAIR

Warning Rigby and Hulbert to avoid keeping bad company, Mr. Justice Wilson reiterated a police statement made to the youth:

"You can't fly with the crows without getting shot."

"I don't want you to go out of this courtroom thinking you've won a victory over the police," he said. "Get jobs and behave yourselves. The next time you might encounter a different fate."

Arthur Dawe represented Rigby, but included Hulbert, who was without counsel, in his plea to the jury.

Joseph McKenna, Q.C., represented the Crown.

Salvage King Gives Assistance To Tug, Tow off Smith Island

Pacific Salvage Company's big tug Salvage King went to the assistance of a Vancouver tow Sunday off Smith Island, about 35 miles north of Victoria.

In trouble was Straits Towing Ltd's. tug Wilmae Straits. She was towing the bulk-carrier barge Southolme when rising winds and heavy seas forced her to put about. The towing cable sank and became fouled on the bottom.

The Wilmae Straits then slipped her tow. The Salvage King made fast to the barge, dropped anchor and held on until moderating weather allowed the Vancouver tug to continue with her job. The Seattle tug Henry Foss also assisted at the scene.

Subscribers Have Chance For Renewal

Even if every subscriber to last winter's Victoria Symphony concert season renews his ticket subscription, there would still be more than 400 seats available for the next season.

This was reported yesterday at the Victoria Symphony box office, where last season's patrons were given the first choice of seats for the forthcoming winter. Many attended to the matter yesterday.

The box office will be open for past season ticket holders for renewals and/or change of seats. Starting April 21, for another two weeks, the box office will be open for those wishing to obtain the remaining tickets.

E. W. Arnott, vice-president, will be chairman. W. C. Mainwaring, assistant to the president, will attend from Vancouver.
